Nixon readies energy plans

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon called in congressional leaders and a group of governors and mayors today to discuss with them his proposals for a new, energy-saving program. It was expected to include a call for a return to daylight saving time.

Nixon will present it to the nation in a radio-television address, expected early tonight.

Beame elected NY mayor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Democrat Abraham Beame, who managed the city's finances for 23 years, was elected mayor by a massive margin Tuesday, beating his three opponents.

It was the second try for Beame, 67, the city controller. Beame carried 57 per cent of the vote with 34 per cent of the ballots counted.

House panel votes benefit hike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Ways and Means Committee voted Wednesday to raise Social Security benefits 11 per cent next year, instead of the 10 per cent it had proposed Tuesday.

The revised plan calls for a 7 per cent increase in April, and the remainder in July.

The increase would be financed through higher payroll taxes on upper income wage earners.

Syrians repel Israeli attack

DAMASCUS (UPI) — Syrian ground forces today foiled an Israeli attempt to advance toward some Syrian positions in the northern sector of the Golan Heights cease-fire line, military spokesman said.

The spokesman said Syrian artillery also "silenced the enemy artillery and the sources of fire."

He said the Israeli attempt started at 11:50 a.m.

S. Viets blast Cong strongholds

SAIGON (UPI) — Waves of South Vietnamese warplanes bombarded a key Viet Cong city with massive air strikes today in retaliation for Communist-driven attacks against government outposts in the Central Highlands.

A military command spokesman said more than 50 South Vietnamese Air Force fighterbombers blasted military installations outside the Viet Cong "capital" of Loc Ninh and a nearby Communist base.

Black elected Raleigh mayor

RALEIGH, N. C. (UPI) — Clarence Lightner was elected mayor of Raleigh Tuesday, the second black mayor of a predominantly white North Carolina city.

Lightner defeated white businessman Wesley Williams. He told newsmen following the election he won on his experience and because voters "didn't believe in being biased."

Cambodia refugee column ambushed

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Rebel troops ambushed a column of 1,200 soldiers and civilians trying to flee a besieged town Tuesday night, killing or capturing more than half of them in one of the fiercest battles of the war.

Field reporters quoted survivors as saying, at least 700 government soldiers and civilians were slain or taken prisoner in the mass exodus from the town of Sreang, 26 miles southwest of Phnom Penh.

Russians unveil lightweight tank

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union put its military might on display today and unveiled a new airborne tank giving Russia the ability to fly a mobile armored force to trouble spots around the world.

The new tank, along with troops and missiles, paraded through a rain-swept Red Square to mark the 56th anniversary of the Bolshevik Revolution.

Henry, Sadat 'move toward peace'

CAIRO (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger discussed the Middle East crisis with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat for three hours today and said afterwards "we are moving towards peace."

Kimberly passes sewer bonds

KIMBERLY — Kimberly residents passed by a wide margin Tuesday a $100,000 revenue bond issue for the construction of a sewage trunk line from Kimberly to Twin Falls.

Out of 484 valid votes, 403 favored the bond issue while 81 opposed it.

Twin Falls has agreed to process Kimberly's sewage when the line is complete. Kimberly's treatment plant is old and inadequate, according to City Clerk Edie Widmer.

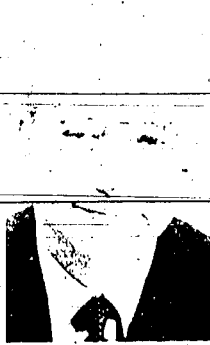

City engineer Joe Haynes said the trunk line is now being designed and should be ready for U. S. Environmental Protection Agency review by Jan. 1. He said the line will be completed either by spring or its late as next fall, depending how long EPA takes to approve the plans.

EPA and the state of Idaho are putting up 90 per cent of the money for the line.

TF re-elects 2 council incumbents; vote tight

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Incumbents Paul Ostyn and Henry Woodall and newcomers I. E. (Bud) Cheney and Leon Smith Jr. were elected to the Twin Falls City Council Tuesday.

Poor weather plus a scarcity of candidates and campaign issues seemed to cut voter turnout to an eight-year low.

Only 37 per cent of registered voters — 1,270 of 3,420 — went to the polls. It was the lowest turnout since 1965, when 23 per cent of those registered cast votes.

Ostyn, Woodall and Cheney will serve four-year terms on the council. Smith was elected to a two-year seat, vacated by Mike Gray last April.

Former television newsman Richard Tuninga, who was appointed to the council in September, lost in his bid for a four-year term. Richard Casper, a certified public accountant, was defeated by more than a two-to-one margin in his match against Smith.

In the race for the three four-year terms, Cheney, district engineer for Mountain Bell Telephone Co., was the most popular candidate, receiving 996 votes. Ostyn came in second with 945, followed by Woodall with 943 and Tuninga with 719.

Smith, Twin Falls attorney and former county prosecutor, won all 10 voting precincts in the race for the two-year term. He topped Casper by an overwhelming 831 to 402.

Cheney was "dumbfounded" by his first-place showing.

"It's a little bit overwhelming to realize that you came in number one in your first attempt at public office," he said.

Cheney said the downtown people were the instigators of my running and were good in their support.

Ostyn, director of high school relations at the College of Southern Idaho, said, "I'm sure that the new men who have been elected will be fine additions and the carryovers will lend stability to the council."

"We will all work well together," he said.

The four-year council veteran warned, "I think we're going to have continued problems with financing all the city services — it's something we're going to have to work at."

Woodall said, "I'm both pleased and surprised. Mostly pleased." He was appointed to the council in April, 1973, to complete the term of Tom Nelson, who resigned to move outside the city limits.

"I'll endeavor to fulfill the wishes of the people," Woodall, a retired oil company executive, said.

Smith was "very pleased" with his victory. "I hope I'm worthy of the confidence that the voters expressed," he said.

Wholesale list continues rise

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Wholesale food prices dropped sharply in October for the second consecutive month, but industrial commodity prices rose sharply, mainly because of higher fuel costs.

The Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today that wholesale prices of farm products and processed foods and feeds dipped 3.9 per cent following a 6 per cent drop in September. But the two-month decline still did not offset an all-time high increase of 17.6 per cent in August.

While food prices were going down last month, wholesale industrial commodity prices — considered a more reliable indicator of economic trends — shot up 1.2 per cent. That was the largest increase since last April and about four times the rate of monthly increase that prevailed for a number of years before 1973.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the overall Wholesale Price Index (WPI) declined 0.5 per cent last month following a 1.0 per cent drop in September — the first time in two years the WPI went down two months in a row.

The lower wholesale food prices brought prospects for lower retail prices. Retail food prices went down 0.7 per cent in September and presumably will show a further drop when the October consumer price report is made public later this month.

Higher prices for such fuels as gasoline, home heating oil, residual fuel used in power plants and other refined petroleum products accounted for more than one third of the overall increase for industrial commodities. Refined petroleum products went up 7.2 per cent.

Costs for electric power, liquefied petroleum gas and bituminous coal also rose.

Higher prices on 1974 model passenger cars and trucks accounted for most of a 1.2 per cent increase in the transportation equipment index.

Hailey rejects referendum plan

By TERRY CAMPBELL
Times-News Writer

HAILEY — The hotly-contested Hailey City election ended with a decisive defeat of the initiative and referendum ordinance issue and the return of two incumbents to office.

With 90 per cent of the registered voters casting ballots, the question of whether an initiative and referendum ordinance should be adopted in Hailey polled 439 "no" votes, compared to 258 "yes" votes in unofficial returns.

The measure had been viewed as a test of voter strength on the McCulloch issue. If the measure had been adopted, the Council for the Defense of the Wood River Valley, an anti-McCulloch group, had intended to petition for a special referendum election on the City Council's decision to annex the 658-acre development.

Out of 702 votes cast, incumbent Mayor Lawrence Heagle received 445 defeating challenger Ralph Rutter. He received 251 votes.

In the council race, incumbent C. W. Dunn received 438 votes and Don Angell got 388 votes to capture the two open council posts.

Secretary of State Pete N. Cenarrusa and his chief deputy went to Hailey Tuesday to help oversee the hotly-contested election.

John Groner, chief deputy in the secretary of state's office, said today the trip was made at the request of Hailey Mayor Lawrence Heagle and Stephen Boller, city attorney.

Groner said the local officials were "afraid people would have registered to vote and not met the bona fide requirements."

Groner said he and Cenarrusa met with Boller in Hailey shortly after noon Tuesday and went over the procedure established for the election. Groner said there were no problems while he and Cenarrusa were in Hailey.

MV man dies in collision

GOODING — Rick Gonzalez, 23, Gooding, was killed at 1:15 a.m. today when his car collided with a westbound train.

The accident occurred four miles west and one mile north of Gooding. Passenger Carol Wickstrom, 23, Gooding, was in good condition at Gooding County Memorial Hospital this morning.

Sheriff Earl Brown said Miss Wickstrom walked to a farmhouse one-quarter mile away from the accident and called his office before going into shock.

Brown said the engineer did not know the accident occurred and Union Pacific officials are examining the engine at Nampa. The car appeared to have been struck from the front, where all the damage was located, Brown said.

It was hauled about 25 feet from the trucks.

Johnson Rupert winner; Shadduck Burley choice

By MARILYN ELLIOTT
Times-News writer

RUPERT — Rupert re-elected incumbent Mayor Wendell Johnson by 11 votes in a close race Tuesday, but City Clerk Charles (Chuck) Shadduck took the Burley mayoral race by 400 votes.

Races were close throughout the Mini-Cassia area, where four cities elected mayors and all 10 elected councilmen. Only three towns had no contested races.

In the closest vote, at Rupert, Johnson edged challenger Councilman W. F. (Bill) Whitton by 11 votes. Johnson drew 669 votes to 658 for Whitton.

Whitton had challenged Johnson on the basis that people were "ready for a change."

Incumbent George MacDonald was re-elected to the Rupert City Council but received fewer votes than newly elected Councilman Dwinnell Allred. Allred received 844 votes and MacDonald took 740.

The other challengers were Edwin S. Catmull with 608 votes and Blaine Jensen with 439.

In Burley, Shadduck swept the mayoral race with 905 votes. His closest opponent councilman Sylvan Burgt took 505 votes. Former mayor Joe Peters got 243 votes and Kendall Tilley took 61 votes.

The top three Burley council candidates all placed within three votes of one another in an extremely close race.

Jerry Vogwert, named to replace Rex Stanley on the council two months ago, received 891 votes. Incumbent councilman James Roper came in only one behind at 890, and the third newly elected member to the council, Gerald Wyant, took 888 votes.

Wyant, who had said in his campaign that "the entire city needs to be represented," is the first councilman in several years selected from the northside.

Coming in not far behind, was the only woman candidate Lea Clayton who received 803 votes. Dunne Broadhead took 478 votes and Roland Willis took 701.

Nixon secretary cleared to talk

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rose Mary Woods, President Nixon's personal secretary for more than 20 years, will testify in the Watergate tapes hearings, possibly by Thursday, White House lawyers said today.

Douglas Parker, one of the attorneys for the President assigned to the hearings on the status of the tapes of Nixon's Watergate conversations, said no objection would be made to her testimony, ordered Tuesday by Judge John J. Sirica.

Sirica ordered her called after other witnesses revealed she had several of the tapes in her possession.

At the opening of the third day of hearings on the tapes this morning, Sirica reoutlined his three key objectives:

—To establish the chain of possession of the tape recordings.

—To find out how they were guarded and who had access to them.

—To ascertain the reasons that might explain the non-existence of tapes of two Watergate-related conversations by the President.

Sirica said testimony on reasons for the absence of tapes for the two conversations "may well be the most important and conclusive part of these hearings."

Snow traps fugitives

WADENA, Minn. (UPI) — Two fugitives who shot their way out of jail held a family of six hostage in a farmhouse circled by dozens of law enforcement officers today but a snow storm stymied the pair's getaway plans.

A light plane demanded by the escaped prisoners sat at Wadena airport with a sheriff's deputy at the controls, but swirling snow reduced visibility to less than a mile, temporarily delaying the house.

The fugitives, John Morgan, 37, and William L. Winans, 18, escaped from the county jail in this northwestern Minnesota community Monday, wounding jailer Randy Hanson. The pair then went to the farm of Elmer Wegscheid at 6 p.m. Tuesday and have kept Wegscheid, his wife and their four teen-age children hostage while more than 50 local and state officers and FBI agents surrounded the house.

Jerome curtails Christmas lights

JEROME — The Jerome City Council will recommend to the Jerome Chamber of Commerce today that downtown Christmas lighting will be curtailed this year.

The council agreed that because of the anticipated power shortage in the Pacific Northwest Christmas lighting will be limited to Dec. 17 through Dec. 25 in downtown Jerome. The lights will be turned on at dark and turned off after the stores close at 9 p.m.

The Jerome Chamber of Commerce had earlier requested help from the city with refurbishing the electrical wiring which members felt was hazardous for Christmas lighting in the downtown area.

The council was unable to grant the request due to lack of money in the budget, and the project will be delayed for another year. Curtailment of use of the lights will help solve the electrical wiring problem, council members said.

The council took under advisement a proposed weed eradication program for the streets of Jerome.

Orval Mauldin presented a three year program of controlling weeds along the city streets. He estimated the total cost at about $4,430.

Mauldin told the council he would treat the weeds this fall with another application in the spring and an application the next fall.

City engineer, Bill Block reported to the council that the bridge on Date Street is complete except for curbing and railing which he anticipates will be finished this week. He said the bridge should be open to traffic within a week.

Black said the bridge on Adams Street is still under construction, the footings have been poured, he said.

Garrett Andrew, CH2M representative, Boise, who is conducting a study of the Jerome sewage treatment plant gave a progress report to the council and arranged to meet with members Thursday night to go over the report in more detail.

Andrew said since the previous report, given to the council Sept. 4, work on the waste water study has been progressing with primary emphasis being directed toward developing final design criteria, alternate methods of waste water treatment and developing basic alternatives for interceptor systems to provide sewer service to various service areas.

Based on data obtained during the sampling testing and flow measuring program, a design criterion has been developed that shows a combined municipal-industrial treatment facility should be sized to handle a flow of 1.57 million gallons per day and a BOD load of 5,187 pounds per day by 1993. This projection is based on the assumption that no wet type industry will be connected to the collection system, Andrew said.

Four waste water treatment alternatives being considered for the existing treatment plant site being considered for a new plant site were presented to the council.

The basic interceptor systems are now being evaluated to identify interceptor costs associated with providing sewer services to the major areas. Systems are being oriented both to the existing plant site and to a new plant site located southeast of town, Andrew said.

Skylab delayed 5 days

CAPE CANAVERAL (UPI) — The launch of the final Skylab space station crew was put off at least five days today after cracks were discovered in the tail fins of the Saturn IB booster rocket.

The mission had been scheduled for blastoff on Saturday.

A space agency spokesman said the "hairline" cracks were discovered late Tuesday night during a routine inspection and engineers were at the launch pad trying to determine the extent of the damage.

Astronauts Gerald P. Carr, Edward G. Gibson and William R. Pogue were scheduled to ride the 224-foot-tall booster into orbit Saturday morning for at least a 60-day stay in the orbiting space station.

A spokesman said the delay to make repairs would be until at least Thursday, Nov. 15.

Another problem—dents in the Saturn IB's korosone fuel tanks—had threatened earlier to delay the launch, but technicians managed to pop the tanks back into shape.

It was expected that all eight of the tail fins that fit around the bottom of the rocket's first stage like a skirt would have to be replaced to make the big space machine useable.

Carr, Gibson and Pogue, all scheduled to make their first space journey, were to fly here today after doing last-minute training in launch abort procedures in the morning in Houston. The crewmen were to fly here in their personal, white T38 jets.

The astronauts, who have spent 2 1/2 years preparing for the mission, were pronounced in good physical condition Tuesday.

AF Dam road bids opened

BOISE — Peter Kiewit Sons Co., Twin Falls, is the apparent low bidder on preliminary structures for a Snake River crossing below the American Falls Dam.

Idaho Highway Department officials said the firm bid $810,564 for the project. That bid was lowest of five received. Kiewit will build piers, footing and other substructures for the 1,136 foot long bridge.

Contractors will divert the river during construction. Work is expected to begin within 30 days and is to be finished by April 15.

The new bridge will be about 200 feet below the existing American Falls Dam, and will relieve traffic restrictions imposed because of deterioration of the Idaho Highway 39 crossing which now runs along the top of the dam.

During construction of a replacement dam for the deteriorating present structure, the new bridge will carry traffic over the river. On completion of the replacement dam, the new span will handle one-way eastbound traffic.

Road units get nod

BOISE (UPI) — The State Highway Board has approved a 15.9 mile extension of State Highway 78 from Marsing to a connection with Interstate 80N via a junction north of Hammett.

The extension of the Owyhee Highway, from the junction of State Highway 51 northeast of Bruneau to a junction with U.S. 30 business loop at Hammett will be effective Dec. 1, but is subject to approval of local road units.

With the dedication and opening Monday of the new 18.7 miles 1-80 section east of Mountain Home, the highway board also approved the removal of a 15.3 mile stretch of former U.S. 30-20-26 from the state highway system.

The stretch was "from the Mountain Home Interstate connection to the junction of the Hammett connection. That will be effective Dec. 1."

The Glenns Ferry and Mountain Home highway district, by official action, have agreed to assume responsibility for the relinquished section of U.S. Highway 30-20-26.

Aide talks to TF PTA Council

TWIN FALLS — Camden Meyer, assistant schools superintendent, told the Twin Falls PTA Council Monday night that the bonds from the recent school bond election hopefully will be sold in January.

He said repairs will be made at O'Leary Junior High School as needed, but no major renovation is slated there. Mrs. DeVern Fuller, Bickel PTA president, reported on a meeting at that school at which Supt. George Staudacher had said no major improvements are planned at Bickel, but repairs will be cared for and perhaps some carpet installed.

Mrs. Ben Hollbrook, Lincoln PTA president, reported on the state convention she attended in McCall. Tom Moore, council first vice president, reminded all local units that the first enrollment of membership is due in the state PTA office by Nov. 15.

The next council meeting will be Dec. 3.

Why President Nixon should not resign

(c) N. Y. Times Service
WASHINGTON — Columnists James Reston and Joseph Alsop have joined Tom Wicker and Anthony Lewis in urging the President to resign.
For the long-run good of the country, I believe the President should not resign. Here is a response to some of the most frequently given reasons for demanding that he quit:

2. The country just cannot take any more Watergate revelations.
Some politicians are trying to transfer their own wrist-to-forehead public suffering to the people at large. Because some Washington denizens cannot stand the gaff, they assume the country cannot.

Of course it will.
The President is the target of a grand jury and he can be expected to do what he can to defend himself. If he were to permit a Justice Department investigation to go in deep enough and to go on long enough, to whip up unstoppable impeachment sentiment, would the President then win brownie points for having run such a slambang investigation?

4. Resignation would avert a horrendous confrontation.
Which is to say that the way to avert a Constitutional clash is for one side to say it was wrong and to skulk off. By the same reasoning, why do not the Congress and the courts "resign" the match — just forget about the whole thing? Same result — no clash — and the same feelings of resentment would ensue at justice not having been done.

1. A President, embattled at home, invites miscalculation abroad.
That was the point made, supposedly in the President's defense, by Henry Kissinger, and seized upon by thoughtful Nixon-dumpers as evidence of the danger of having a President who does not bestride public opinion like a colossus.

A nation that experienced a decade featuring a rash of political assassinations, a series of race riots and city burnings, that hung a pall of smoke over its capital, and more than 300 of its sons killed every week in an undeclared and unpopular war — such a nation is not about to come apart in this less violent decade at the revelation of political abuses. That is not blood, but vitriol, now running in the streets.

Face it, Nixon stands accused, and he will cooperate as little as he must in the prosecution of himself, which under our system, is the right of the accused. To quit would be to confess guilt, as we have seen; no protestations of patriotic motive would wash; and it is wrong to demand that a man who considers himself innocent take action that is tantamount to confessing a crime.

A miscarriage of justice, whether the result of a witch hunt or a whitewash, is never "good for the country." In the sensible avoidance of confrontation, it is good to remember that it is not the President who is threatening to impeach the Congress.

However, in the last month's Mideast War, President Nixon proved that no flak, no matter how intense or prolonged, will stay him from acting firmly, coolly and decisively abroad. The most recurrent theme of his presidency has been his firmness of purpose under fire, which has a way of resulting in honorable peace.

On the contrary, amid the worst of Watergate, market has moved 100 points up, interest rates and unemployment have come significantly down, and the dollar has strengthened around the world.

If his accusers think the President has committed impeachable crimes, they should stop blaming Nixon for not proving it for them. They should appoint their own prosecutor, arm him with the powers of judicial and legislative branches, and make their case or hold their

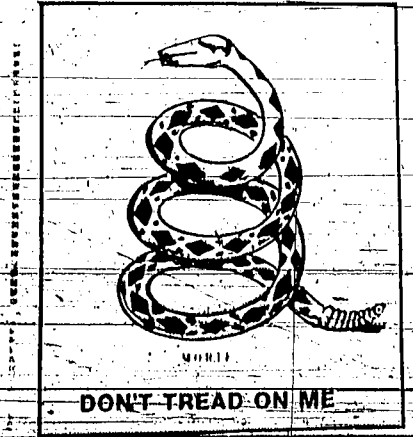

It is possible to be furious with Nixon's encroachments on civil liberty, astounded at the blunders of his defense, worried about the erosion of public trust, fed-up-to-here-with apprehension that the worst is yet to come and still to resolutely oppose resignation. Quitting would solve nothing, and could cause great mischief.

Hansen school

Hats off to the people of the Hansen area who just voted to build a new grade school.
It is tough to convince two thirds of the voters on any issue. It is even harder to convince so many that they should approve a large tax increase.
Apparently the Hansen school patrons were aware of the need for their new $300,000 elementary school.
One thing the affirmative vote at Hansen should do once and for all is lay to rest the commonplace observation that "farmers just won't vote for a bond issue."
The largely-rural Hansen school district was willing to spend $19 per $10,000 of property per year for its new school.
Cynics may argue that such a vote could have happened only in a good farm income year. We prefer to think it can happen anytime a community like Hansen sees a need to build for its future.

'Vigilantes'

The notion of 10,000 shotgun-toting "vigilantes" threatening to pick off intruding environmentalists, governmental agents and "thieves and rustlers" may have an Old-West appeal to some folks.
The appearance in Idaho recently of no trespassing signs emblazoned with a coiled snake and references to death and pea-sized buckshot has created something of a sensation.
The danger is that this kind of Fourth-of-July playacting really may kill somebody.
This "Vigilant Committee" should not be confused with other deputized groups of landowners who are attempting to patrol their rangeland from rustlers following legal means.
Last Thursday's Rexburg Journal broke the story of a potential "Old-West-shootout" and the routing of a number of state politicians. An unnamed "cooperating member" of the "Vigilant Committee of 10,000" was interviewed by the newspaper. He painted a picture of landowners forced to defend their rights from creeping environmentalists and state agencies bent on "regulating land and water" and also from pesky cattle rustlers.
He claimed the vigilante committee is "a militant group set up to protect property rights." These lines may sound vaguely familiar to people who have followed the rise and liquidation in recent years of black militant groups such as the "Black Panthers."
The similarities are striking.
First, there is a ringing appeal to "stand up and be a man," to prove manhood and self-worth through violent action.
Then there is the notion of the oppressors, those insidious and nearly all-powerful enemies who will continue to press down the vigilante unless he fights back.
At the same time the oppressor, whether the white man or the environmentalist, is portrayed as something of a sissy who is frightened by the proposed variety of violent defense.
Third, there is the fascination with weaponry, such as the "magnum super buckshot loads" which apparently will be directed toward intruders by the vigilantes — artillery as a security blanket.
Fourth, there is the notion that although law and order are theoretically preferable to violence, the special circumstances in which the vigilante finds himself temporarily justify breaking the law.
So the Panther feels his blackness and his history justify his taking the law into his own hands. And the vigilante feels his "western-ness" gives him that right: "Out in the West, we're not used to that dose of supervision."
Finally, both the Panthers and the new vigilantes thought their program could achieve its purposes — a serious miscalculation.
Hopefully this kind of talk will go no further.
For once vigilantes begin to take the law into their own hands, their neighbors will have no choice but to crush them with force as they would any dangerous criminal.

Kissinger's faith

(c) Chicago Daily News
WASHINGTON — Henry A. Kissinger, product of an Orthodox Jewish home, hardly had time to savor his elevation to Secretary of State when events forced him to deal openly with the ancient conflict between Jews and Arabs in the Middle East.
Has the fact of being a Jew inhibited him, caused him to "bend over backwards" to compensate for it in his approach to the Arabs?
If he bends over, it has less to do with his Jewishness than it has to establishing a sense of confidence among Arabs that the United States will deal with them fairly and equitably, says an official who has worked closely with Kissinger since he added the secretary's portfolio to his tasks as a presidential assistant.
Yet, among many American Jews, according to reports, pride is mixed with a deep sense of anxiety that if Kissinger should stumble or fall in his labors to find an Arab-Israeli settlement, it will reflect upon all Jews.
In meeting with Arab diplomats at the U. N. General Assembly, Kissinger reportedly found that his religion was no bar to candor and straightforward talk.
Officials here emphasize that Kissinger's upcoming trip to Cairo was the result of an initiative by Egyptian president Anwar Sadat. So was the visit here this week of Acting Egyptian Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy, they point out.
"I honestly believe that Arabs see something in Kissinger, something magical," according to one diplomatic official. "They perceive him as a man with the right touch. They show more than faint admiration for the fact he negotiated the country's way out of Vietnam, in a complex, difficult negotiation."

His activity in the opening to China, and Russia inspired a measure of trust among the Arabs. At the moment, they seem perfectly willing to deal with him, without apparent concern for his faith. He's a fact of life, you might say, and they're not reluctant to recognize it.
Officials realize that Kissinger's ability to appeal evenhanded in his dealings with the Arabs may depend upon how skillfully he handles the question of military supplies to Israel. They recall that former Secretary of State William P. Rogers also established a rapport with the Arab leaders, but could not in the end overcome U. S. policy of aiding Israel to keep an arms balance.
Kissinger's own reaction to how being a Jew might affect policy in the Middle East was stated when he was first nominated to be Secretary of State. His reply still stands as the most concise he has made about his attitude.
"I will conduct the foreign policy of the U. S. regardless of religions or national heritage," he said. "There is no other country in the world in which a man of my background could be considered for an office such as the one for which I have been nominated, and that imposes on me a grave responsibility which I will pursue in the national interest."
A refugee with his parents from Nazi Germany, Kissinger has created a world-wide reputation as a geopolitician, a cosmopolitan, and as an envoy extraordinaire, both as a Harvard professor and a top-level U. S. official.
He relishes the various roles, and those who have observed his career have little doubt that he will not allow a matter of religion to obstruct or inhibit him, even though he may feel some personal involvement in the fate of his co-religionists.

Bishops should stay out of pants plant

In the next few days, the Catholic bishops will convene, and one fears that they will vote most imprudently to endorse the boycott of the project of a company called Farah, which manufactures pants of one sort or another in San Antonio and, principally, El Paso.
The boycott of Farah products has become the new thing to do among the restlessly indignant, and their success among Catholic clergymen is greatly to be regretted if only because some Catholic priests whose social thought has not moved since the mid-thirties are captive to the superstition that unionizing an enterprise is always under all circumstances the thing to do, and that one can automatically reason from a non-union plant, to a plant that abuses its employees.

What is so very strange about the Farah situation is that the workers do not desire a union. The wages at Farah are apparently at the level of the wages of unionized plants in the area — even higher, it is maintained.
This is perhaps one reason why, when the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America went down to Texas to organize the plants, they failed to come up even with the 30 per cent required to bring on a union election under the supervision of the National Labor Relations Board.
A union scorned in such a way is greatly embittered, and sophisticated organizers know which faucets to turn.
In this case, since El Paso and San Antonio are heavily inhabited by Mexican-Americans, the strategy has been to influence local clergy and in turn the clergy of the entire country. The organizers have been very successful, and the culmination of their success would be the endorsement by all the bishops at their forthcoming congregation.

Meanwhile the organizers launched a boycott to support a walkout at Farah. What happened is that 2,000 workers walked out in protest against their 7,000 brothers who did not want the union.
But the moral torch has been held by clerical hands. El Paso's Bishop Metzger has talked about Farah's violations of "social justice." Bishop Hogan of Rochester wrote the local merchants urging them to consider the "moral issue." Bishop Byrne of St. Paul urged the boycott of local merchants. It snowballed. Five bishops from the Southwest backed the boycott, then the Texas Conference of Churches, and bishops in Pittsburgh, Scranton, Philadelphia, and Buffalo.

One fears that the simple old identifications continue to pursue us. Good and humane management, is the myth, requires a labor union. No union, no social justice. And one fears more: that Catholic clergymen increasingly believe that only by taking positions on secular matters are they taken seriously. That's right. And if the Catholic bishops keep up their mounting concern over secular problems, who knows, one day they might have as much influence as the Protestant bishops, which is to say, no influence at all.

Adversary justice

(c) N. Y. Times Service
WASHINGTON — For reasons going back centuries in Anglo-American legal history, we have an adversary system of justice in this country.
The promise of that system is that truth is most likely to emerge in a court of law, from an open clash of conflicting interests. It is not the only possible view; other cultures differ. But it is ours.
Under the adversary system, lawyers are required to devote themselves wholeheartedly to one side of a controversy. A lawyer may regularly represent some client, but if that client is sued by another party with whom the lawyer also has connections, his duty is to withdraw. Legal ethics say that he must not put himself in a situation where his loyalties might be — or might appear to be — confused.
That is the difficulty that clouds the Nixon administration's appointment of Leon Jaworski as special prosecutor. It is impossible for the ordinary citizen to believe that a man who owes the most basic loyalty to one side in a courtroom, the loyalty arising from appointment, can take a position wholeheartedly adversary to that side.
Right now President Nixon's lawyers are arguing in Judge John Sirica's courtroom that there are good reasons for the non-existence of two White House tapes. The public interest requires the most rigorous cross-examination of those claims. The special prosecution staff appointed by Archibald Cox is presently cross-examining. Would there be public confidence if the job were assumed by someone chosen at this point by the very people under challenge?
Most of a prosecutor's work is not in the public eye of the courtroom, and if anything is concealed part of the job even more urgently requires a committee adversary relationship. What evidence to demand, what lawyers to assign, what compromises to accept — such decisions are crucial. Cox got into trouble by insisting on evidence withheld as "Presidential papers." Can the public believe that a Nixon administration appointee will resist the administration's blandishments in the same resolute way?
The circumstances of Jaworski's appointment make the problem more acute. Cox was chosen by Elliot Richardson and given explicit independence in rules that were written into the Code of Federal Regulations. Jaworski was named with White House approval after the shattering of those rules.
In any event, there is undiminished support in Congress for the creation by statute of a special prosecutor entirely independent of the president — one named by the courts. That is the real issue on which the next phase of the battle to discover the truth of Watergate and the other political crimes or recent years will be fought.

Altitude

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I would like your opinion on health hazards, if any, for a person who has had a heart attack traveling by automobile in mountainous areas. — Mrs. H. B. S.
There isn't any yes or no answer to your question; it depends on the individual. But I can give you some guidance.
High altitudes may not be tolerated well by some individuals with heart or lung disease — the rarified atmosphere, with a lower oxygen content, is the reason.
It may take a day or more for a person to adjust to a higher altitude.
Specifically, if the increase in altitude is gradual, it is easier to adjust. You may, for example, want to stop over for a day at some mid-point.
How to tell whether you are adjusting? Walking is a good test. If you get short of breath or piddy, you have had enough. Give yourself more time to adjust, or do not go any higher. (Or go back down!)

JEROME — Charles Hancock was elected mayor of Jerome Tuesday, defeating Cyril Shupe by 94 votes.

Hancock, owner and operator of the Hancock Honey Co., received 426 votes, while Shupe, former city police judge, polled 332.

Two write-in votes were cast for both Ralph Dunn, retired school teacher, and Bill Last, operator of the Culligan soft water service. Present Mayor J. A. (Jack) Russell did not seek re-election.

In a four-way race for the two council positions, the incumbent Walt Bentzinger was returned to the seat with 460 votes. Also elected was Fred N. Bauscher with 388 votes.

Defeated for the council were Reuben Fletcher with 347 votes and Mario Dalry, 305. Less than half of the 1,254 registered voters cast ballots Tuesday.

Hancock, the new mayor, said Tuesday night, "I appreciate the honor the voters of Jerome have given me and I wish to thank all the people who have worked and supported me. I am sure I can work with the fine people who are on the city council and the city employees who are all doing a fine job and with their help, we can keep Jerome a good progressive city."

Filer elects mayor on write-in vote

FILER — Paul Shover was elected Filer mayor on a write-in ticket, receiving 92 votes at Tuesday's election.

Charles Young, whose name was on the ballot, received 74 votes.

Elected to four year terms on the city council were incumbent Gilbert Chandler who received 102 votes and Jack Pierce who received 154.

A two year councilman will be appointed by the council since Shover had been running for that post.

Group checks funds

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Watergate committee is checking into the donations by trucking company executives to President Nixon's 1972 campaign, the Washington Star-News said Tuesday.

The newspaper said the amount was the largest single industry contribution to the Nixon re-election effort and came at a time when truckers were fighting a government proposal that would have generated more competition in their field.

A Star-News reporter, James R. Polk, said "the donations came from executives of trucking outfits across the nation with officials of the larger lines asked to give $25,000 per company."

According to the Star-News, John Ruan of Des Moines, secretary of the American Trucking Association, acknowledged heading the drive but said it was aimed at defeating Nixon's Democratic contender, Sen. George S. McGovern, rather than influencing legislation.

Polk said executives of the following companies were among those making $25,000 contributions: Roadway Express, Akron, Ohio; Consolidated Freightways, San Francisco; Gateway Transportation Co., La Crosse, Wis.; Gordon Transport, Memphis; Lee Way Motor Freight Co., Oklahoma City; Brady Motorfreight, Des Moines; and Schwenner Trucking Co., Milwaukee.

Aide sends regrets

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger will not attend the Dec. 10 ceremony in Oslo to receive his Nobel Peace prize "because of the press of business in a world beset by recurrent crisis."

The State Department made public Tuesday a letter by Kissinger dated Nov. 2 to the Nobel Committee in which he designated the U.S. ambassador to Norway, Thomas Byrnes, to represent him.

Saying he was "deeply moved by the award," Kissinger said that he "would hope and consider it a privilege should you wish to visit Oslo at a future appropriate date to deliver the lecture which I understand is customarily given by laureates of the Nobel Peace Prize."

Kissinger and Le Duc Thu, North Vietnam's senior diplomat, were awarded the Peace Prize jointly because of their success in negotiating the Paris agreement for peace in Vietnam.

The subsequently refused to accept the award because he said there still was no peace in Vietnam.

Kissinger interpreted the award as being given for achieving the end of the actual fighting by the United States.

Offer rejected

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Attorney General Elliot Richardson said Tuesday he has asked that his name be withdrawn from any consideration as a candidate for the U.S. Senate in Illinois.

Richardson told reporters following his appearance before the Senate Judiciary Committee he had been asked to "consider running against Sen. Adlai Stevenson, D-Ill., next year."

Richardson said the offer came from Illinois Republican State Chairman Don Adams. "I have no roots in Illinois," Richardson said. "There certainly would be the feeling that I was a carpetbagger coming in to capitalize on any national reputation that I have."

"I asked that my name be withdrawn from any consideration," Richardson said he told Adams.

"I was very complimented by the offer," the Massachusetts Republican said. "It's true, that I need a job."

Bond agency sought

BOISE (UPI) — Creation of a public corporation to sell revenue bonds for construction of multi-story "state" buildings around Idaho will be asked from the next session of the Legislature.

D.F. "Skip" Chibberg, director of administrative services, said the administration will recommend creating an Idaho State Building Authority governed by a seven-member board appointed by the governor.

Chibberg said the authority—similar to the present state building authority—will be a quasi-official agency set up outside state government.

At present, he said, the state government is hamstrung by a constitutional state debt limit of $25 million. At the same time the permanent building fund has a large backlog of construction requests and a small budget to handle them.

To group state agencies into multi-service structure around the state for "one door" service to the public, Chibberg said, the state will have to come up with about $25 million. He said this could be done with revenue bonds and leave the permanent building fund for other purposes.

He said revenue bonds issued by a public corporation also could be used to speed up construction in the capital mall at Boise.

Next March, bids are expected to be opened for a $4 million, five-story office building in the mall. The Andrus administration has proposed investing a surplus of the state insurance fund in this structure and then reimbursing the fund over a 20-year period through rental payments.

Besides multi-service building in other cities around the state, Chibberg said, the state needs about 300,000 square feet of office space in the Capitol Mall.

Shoshone reports honors

SHOSHONE — Six Shoshone High School and Junior High students received straight "A" grades for the first nine-week period.

They include Cindy Bergin and Wanda Faught, seniors; Lara Kidner, a junior; Ralph Ballard, a sophomore; and Joel Bate and Jason Webb, eighth graders.

Named to the "A" honor roll were Steve Anderson, Mike Aoi, Cindy Bergin, Lucy Berriochao, J.D. Bowlin, Colleen Jones, Wanda Faught, Claudine Graham, Jeff Tate and Austin Webb, seniors.

Juniors are Ruth Faught, Dawna Jacobson, Lara Kidner, Steve Saraz, Viki Stimpson and Max Warburton.

The sophomores on the all "A" roll are Ralph Ballard, Penny Davis, Alan Garrett, Cindy Hicks and Carley Jones, while freshmen are Sue Bellin, Cathy Churchman, Patti Fawcett, Tony Onella, Carol Saraz and Richard Webb.

Eighth graders are Joel Bate, Mary Bellin, Lori Blackburn, DeAnn Sorensen, Rick Gonzales, Curtis Kidner and DeAnn Sorensen and seventh graders are Dan Dallas, Lannie Hicks, Kristin Hill, Jaylean Johnson, Gena Kelley and Bart Koonce.

Those on the roll from the eighth grade are Tami Cartwright, Renee Crawford, Tom Croft, Kevin Meservy and Lauri Stimpson while seventh graders are Maria Blackburn, Charles Jones, Tammy Rapp, Heather Robinson, Crystal Stimpson and Betty Thorpe.

Secretary mystery figure in tape row

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rose Mary Woods, President Nixon's personal secretary and confidante for more than 20 years, suddenly has emerged as a central figure in the mystery of the Watergate tapes.

She has been summoned to testify publicly in court, perhaps today, as Chief U.S. District Judge John J. Sirica continues an inquiry into White House claims that two of the recordings never existed.

Sirica told reporters after a late-afternoon meeting Tuesday with White House lawyers he expects seven other presidential tapes will be turned over to him "soon."

White House witnesses told Sirica Tuesday that Miss

Woods has listened to and transcribed many tapes in recent weeks and still has possession of 14 of them, including six given to her Monday.

The reaction of Sirica was swift and emphatic: "Someone get word to Miss Woods that she will be called as a witness in this case."

White House spokesmen had no comment on whether Nixon would permit his private secretary to take the stand.

At issue are Watergate-related conversations Nixon had with John N. Mitchell June 20, 1972, three days after the bugging arrests, and with John W. Dean III on April 15 this year, both originally thought to have been taped on an automatic recording system in place at the time.

Nixon two weeks ago bowed to court orders and agreed to surrender them and seven other taped conversations. But the White House announced later the two tapes did not exist—the Mitchell conversation because it was made from a telephone not plugged into the system and the Dean meeting because the tape ran out.

Miss Woods' role in the case was first mentioned by White House aide Stephen Bull, who testified he had taken about a dozen of the subpoenaed tapes to Nixon's Camp David, Md., mountain retreat the weekend of Sept. 29 for Miss Woods and the President "to review."

He said he had returned four or five of them to the White House the following Monday morning, but that the rest remained with Miss Woods "for at least a week" and were taken along with some others to the Florida White House in Key Biscayne the next weekend for more work.

Bull said he saw Miss Woods typing as she listened to the tapes, but did not know if she was making notes or a verbatim transcript and didn't ask because "it was not my business."

But retired Army Maj. Gen. John C. Bennett, the deputy to White House Chief of Staff Alexander M. Haig, testified later there was a specific reason Bull had been dispatched to Camp David.

He said Bull later that day called him to say no tape of Nixon's meeting with Dean the night of April 15 could be found and to ask him to see if there were another tape for that date in the vault.

Bennett said he located one and personally drove it to Camp David that evening.

SANTIAGO (UPI) — Chilean army troops sealed off the former Cuban Embassy in Santiago today with Swedish Ambassador Harald Edelstam and a number of exiles from the Sept. 11 military coup inside.

The ambassador said a Swedish citizen, Mrs. Bobi Sourander, and two of his drivers were detained by authorities during the night when they tried to enter the embassy. Troops then sealed off the building, he said.

Edelstam said there were also some exiles in the embassy, turned over to Swedish authorities when the Cuban diplomatic delegation was expelled from Chile following the Sept. 11 military coup that brought down the Marxist government of President Salvador Allende.

"I cannot tell you how many exiles we have but that is the reason I sleep here every night," the ambassador said.

"The frightening thing is that they arrested Mrs. Sourander and two of my drivers last night when they tried to come in," Edelstam said.

"At this moment they (army troops) are still out there," he said at dawn today.

Mrs. Sourander is the wife of Swedish newsman Bobi Sourander, expelled from Chile late last month after being held for 11 days by Chilean authorities.

"I arrived here last night at six in the afternoon like I do every day and they surrounded the embassy later," the ambassador said.

Edelstam said his tax ceiling concept could be adopted nationally if successful in California.

He told Californians, "you can sound a cry that will be heard all the way to those puzzle palaces on the Potomac."

Reagan, 62, currently is the top choice of Republican voters for the GOP presidential nomination in 1976, according to the Gallup Poll. The election was considered a test of his California popularity after nearly seven years as governor.

The results were being watched by California politicians for any sign of strong anti-politician favor fanned by Watergate.

Reagan acknowledged, "people are so cynical about everyone in political life today they can't believe someone honestly wants to cut their taxes."

Ervin said: "The committee has not investigated Sen. Gurney. It has no authority to investigate anything except the presidential campaign of 1972."

After six months of hearing testimony of political spying and sabotage traced to Republican agents, the committee Tuesday heard one day of testimony on Democratic dirty tricks.

Of the five witnesses, only one directly lied activity to a Democratic campaign—an anti-Nixon leaflet printed by local supporters of Sen. George S. McGovern in California.

Sen. Howard Baker, the Republican vice-chairman, put into the committee record more than 40 sworn statements of acts of violence committed against Republicans in the 1972 campaign.

"We do not lay these acts at the feet of a particular party or candidate," Baker said.

Bahama police arrest financier Vesco for US

(c) New York Times Service

NASSAU, Bahamas — Robert L. Vesco, the fugitive financier, was arrested here Tuesday afternoon by the Royal Bahamian Police acting of a request from the United States for his extradition to face a fraud charge.

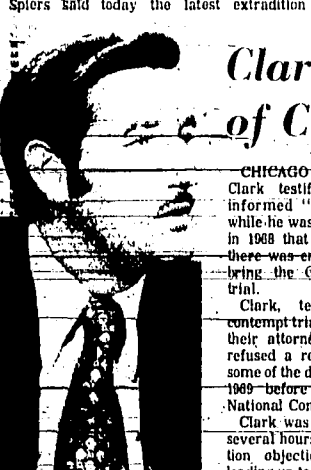

A federal indictment against Vesco was returned last July by a grand jury in the Southern District of New York, but remained sealed until last week. It accuses him of using $30,000 belonging to a company he controls to buy stock for his personal benefit while pretending that the money had been spent for legitimate corporate purposes.

Ronald Spiers, the American Ambassador to the Bahamas, said today that last Thursday, the day after the indictment was unsealed, he formally requested that Vesco be sent back to the United States.

However, a high Bahamian government official said Friday the United States had failed to follow up an earlier request for extradition here with enough supporting information to justify an arrest.

Vesco has also been indicted, along with former Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell and former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans, in connection with a $200,000 contribution he made to President Nixon's re-election campaign.

Spiers said today the latest extradition

Privilege end asked of Nixon

(c) New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — Former attorney general Elliot Richardson said today President Nixon should agree to drop all claims of executive privilege in the wide-ranging investigations of the Watergate scandals.

In an appearance before the Senate Judiciary Committee, Richardson stated: "I see no other way at this juncture of providing the reassurance necessary to the Congress and the American people that the special prosecutor can get to the bottom of all these matters."

He continued, "We have reached the point where, it seems to me, any further conversation about privilege ought to be eliminated."

Richardson's successor, Sen. William B. Saxton, R-Ohio, will come before the Judiciary Committee for confirmation hearings as the new attorney general. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., asked if Saxton's confirmation should be held up until the president made a solid agreement on executive privilege.

"I think that would be a good idea," Richardson said.

Asked if that "erosion" was reflected in moves to seek a presidential resignation or impeachment, he said, "that's a fair conclusion."

Clark raps trial of Chicago group

CHICAGO (UPI) — Ramsey Clark testified Tuesday he informed "all officialdom" while he was attorney general in 1968 that he did not think there was enough evidence to bring the Chicago Seven to trial.

Clark, testifying at the contempt trial of the seven and their attorneys, also said he refused a request to wiretap some of the defendants early in 1969 before the Democratic National Convention.

Clark was on the stand for several hours despite prosecution objections that claims leading up to the 1969 conspiracy trial had no bearing on the contempt citations issued during the trial and would not excuse the defendants' raucous conduct.

U.S. District Court Judge Edward Gignoux said he believed the testimony would be irrelevant, but would allow the defense to present it anyway since there is no jury in the case.

Clark said the request for a wiretap in 1968 was the first contact he had with the Chicago Seven case, but he was in constant contact with events prior to and during the convention, which ended in bloody street fights.

Clark said he ordered an informal investigation of possible wrongdoing by either demonstrators or police, but U.S. District Court Judge William Campbell formalized proceedings by empanelling a federal grand jury.

"I can recall reviewing the evidence (against the seven) in November, 1968, and January, 1969," Clark said, "and in judgment there was no evidence to warrant an indictment by the grand jury.

"As clearly as I could, by words and acts, I informed all officialdom I did not think there was evidence for prosecution in this matter."

Despite that, Clark said, the seven were indicted in March, 1969, two months after he left office. The decision to prosecute was made by his successor, John Mitchell.

Richardson quit the race

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former Attorney General Elliot Richardson, a Massachusetts Republican, Tuesday said he has asked that his name be withdrawn from any consideration as candidate for the U.S. Senate in Illinois.

Richardson told reporters after an appearance before the Senate Judiciary Committee Tuesday that he had been asked to consider running against Sen. Adlai Stevenson, D-Ill., next year.

He said the offer came from Illinois Republican State Chairman Don Adams.

"I have no roots in Illinois," Richardson said. "There certainly would be the feeling that I was a carpetbagger coming in to capitalize on any national reputation that I have. I asked that my name be withdrawn from consideration."

"I was very complimented by the offer," Richardson said. "It's true that I need a job."

Policies defended

(c) New York Times Service

WASHINGTON — Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the federal reserve board, said Tuesday the severe inflation of 1973 "cannot responsibly be attributed" to excessive growth of the nation's money supply "or to public policies more generally."

In a 28-page letter to Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., Burns said sharp variation up or down in the rate of growth of the money supply "over a period up to six months or so has a negligible influence on the course of the economy — provided it is subsequently offset."

In general, Burns defended monetary policy over the last two years.

Grants diverted to Nixon effort

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Watergate committee is investigating reports that U.S. government grants to help Spanish-speaking Americans were used to help re-elect Richard M. Nixon.

Committee sources said the panel has information that such grants ended up being used by the "National Hispanic Finance Committee to Re-Elect the President."

Sources said that group reportedly raised $400,000 for Nixon in the 1972 presidential campaign and was an arm of the Committee to Re-Elect the President.

Kennedy dispute continues

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) — National archivist Marion M. Johnson — disputed — published reports Monday that said he believed disclosure of secret Warren Commission evidence would give fresh ammunition to those who claim conspirators killed President John F. Kennedy.

"I simply did not say that there was any support for the conspiracy theory in records that were withheld," Johnson said.

He was contacted in his office at the National Archives in Washington, D. C., following a New Orleans news conference conducted earlier by The National Tattler, a Chicago-based weekly publication.

The Tattler called the news conference to announce publication this week of its special edition on the 10th anniversary of the Nov. 22, 1963 assassination of Kennedy.

The Tattler article said, "Johnson, who has viewed almost all the classified documents, said they contain nothing to support commission claims that Kennedy was killed by Lee Harvey Oswald acting alone."

Panel re-hires Head Start aide

TWIN FALLS — Barbara Jessem was reinstated as director of Head Start in Jerome, Cassia and Twin Falls counties Monday night by the personnel committee of the South Central Community Action Agency (SCCAA) and the policy council of the TFC County Head Start program.

Mrs. Jessem had been tentatively dismissed by CAA executive director Bob Russell pending a final decision by the Head Start policy council and the CAA personnel committee.

"I don't think I ever really wanted to fire her," Russell said. Tuesday morning, following Mrs. Jessem's reinstatement. He said he recommended the firing because he believed she was taking too many administrative responsibilities on herself and that because of this a lot of things were not getting done.

The reinstatement decision was made following a lengthy and at times heated public discussion. Carol Bocanegra, chairman of the parents policy council of Head Start, said numerous Head Start staff members, former parents and parents of Head Starts children testified in support of Mrs.

Jessem, saying she is a very competent person who is willing to help her staff in any way.

"It (the dismissal recommendation) was just more or less the result of a misunderstanding," Mrs. Bocanegra said, maintaining that Mrs. Jessem's responsibilities need to be more clearly defined.

To do this, Mrs. Bocanegra said, the CAA personnel committee and the Head Start policy council also set up liaison committee. This committee will define the duties of the Head Start director.

TF police phone taps planned

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Better watch what you say when you call the Twin Falls Police Department next year. You'll be taped.

The Twin Falls City council Monday night approved purchase of "multi-channel recorders" for the department. The recorders will be purchased from the Dictaphone Co. complete with a 30-day supply of tapes, for $6,769.

Police Chief Frank Barnett said the recorders should be installed before the end of the year.

Every incoming and outgoing call will be recorded, he said, although there "may be a private line into the detective division. And no "bleep" will warn callers that they are being recorded, Barnett said. The signal is not required for "emergency equipment," including telephones, he explained.

The tapes will be erased and reused within 30 days unless they are needed for court, according to Barnett.

He said the recordings will be used "primarily to be sure that we have all the information that is given in a particular conversation."

The tapes will also give police a better "time record" on their actions, according to Barnett. They will be able to check the time it takes to respond to a call.

"All radio communications will also be recorded," he said. "Two recordings will be made of each conversation, according to Barnett, one for permanent use."

"We do have a few ulterior motives" for the tapes, Barnett said. "We think it will improve public relations. Our people will have a little more insight into their telephone use."

The recordings will also "eliminate false accusations about what they (police) said over the phone," according to Barnett.

Several Idaho cities, including Boise and Lewiston, already tap their police department phones, he said.

Juvenile waits for day in court

CALDWELL, Idaho (UPI) — Come Friday, Edward George Ackley, 17, will have spent one year in Canyon County Jail and has not yet had his day of trial in court.

Because he is charged with murder, jail rules dictate that he cannot be lodged with other juvenile prisoners. Because he is a juvenile, he cannot associate with adult prisoners. So in effect, he has spent the last year in isolation.

He waits for court decisions that will determine his future. One of these decisions will come sometime after today, when a hearing is scheduled in the Idaho Supreme Court appealing a Third District Court denial of a writ of habeas corpus.

The word "sometime" is used advisedly, since there is no limit in the length of time the Supreme Court can take to make their decision after Wednesday's hearing.

Depending upon the court's decision, Ackley may or may not be extradited to Denver, Colo., where police have charged the Caldwell youth with first degree murder in the stabbing death of Carter Alexander Harrison Jr., 15, on Nov. 1, 1972.

Put very briefly, the writ for habeas corpus to prevent extradition claims that Ackley's constitutional rights—both state and federal—have been violated through the procedure by which he was charged as an adult without a waiver from juvenile court. The state responds that his rights have not been denied him.

Long before these matters came up, Caldwell police petitioned Ackley into juvenile court in Caldwell June 20, 1972, on a drunkenness charge. At his sentencing on this charge, Judge James C. Morfitt sentenced him to 30 days in jail, suspended 15 of those and placed the youth on probation for life year. Among the terms were that he counsel with his probation officers and make a reasonable effort to obtain employment.

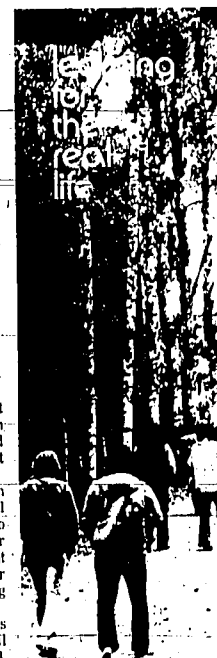

On Nov. 9, 1972, Ackley was arrested in Pocatello as a probation violator and returned to

Fertilizer supplies may be short

By DWIGHT JENSEN
Special to the Times-News

PUCATELLO — Farmers who scrapped the old manure spreader years ago might profitably spend the winter months reading publications such as Organic Gardening and Farming. The reason: fertilizer may well be in short supply next year.

Ben McCollum, sales manager for the J. R. Simplot Co. in Pocatello, says although the Cost of Living Council has taken action that could alleviate the shortage in the long run, that action will also mean a price increase, and because of commitments already made, it might not alleviate the shortage fast enough to take care of next year's needs.

Moreover, the energy crisis itself is contributing to the fertilizer shortage in a way price increases won't help.

McCollum says the main factor in the shortage so far has been the price. Domestic prices of fertilizer have been frozen, but the prices overseas have gone up. Consequently, many manufacturers, especially those in the East, have been exporting their product. Simplot has continued to supply the domestic market, but the demand has increased considerably.

Now the Cost of Living Council has lifted the price freeze, so manufacturers could find it profitable again to cater to the domestic market — but first they will have to fulfill contractual obligations overseas.

McCollum says the demand for fertilizer in western Canada is rising rapidly, and the demand in the western United States is expected to be 10 to 12 percent higher next year than it is this year.

But the supply, McCollum predicts, will be about the same next year as this. He doesn't know how the distribution pattern will look — some areas may get more fertilizer, some less, than they're now getting.

The price matter is not the only problem. Energy affects the shortage in at least two ways. In central Florida, a shortage of electricity is cutting back on the amount of phosphate that can be mined. In most areas, a shortage of natural gas has reduced the available supply of ammonia, which is a necessary ingredient in fertilizer. Those shortages are not alleviated by the action of the Cost of Living Council.

Most farmers have been fertilizing their fields this fall, so the effect next year is likely to be minimal. But what happens beyond that is still a matter of guesswork.

Farm Bureau meet set

TWIN FALLS — Annual meeting of the Twin Falls County Farm Bureau is scheduled Thursday.

Gene Walker, president, said the meeting will begin at 9 a.m. at the Farm Bureau offices on Addison Avenue. It is open to all Farm Bureau members living in the county.

On the agenda are reports, resolutions, directives to state conventions, delegates, selection of delegates and election of officers for the coming year. A potluck dinner will be served at noon, with the Farm Bureau providing the meat and drink, Walker said.

The meeting will conclude about 4 p.m., Walker said. The state convention opens Sunday in Boise.

Texan endorses sugar controls

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An Agriculture Department plan to abolish federal control over sugar marketing after 1974 is "damn foolishness," Chairman W.R. Poage of the House Agriculture Committee said today.

Poage's comment to UPI followed the disclosure last week that the department wants to eliminate a 40-year-old sugar control program, throwing the U.S. market wide open to all domestic and foreign producing areas except Cuba.

The proposal has not yet been approved by the White House. But the Agriculture Department is already discussing it with sugar industry leaders and hopes to get White House clearance for presenting it to Congress early next year. The current federal Sugar Act expires at the end of 1974, and the House Agriculture Committee plans to begin hearings on an extension bill early in the new year.

The department plan would end a system in which domestic producing areas and some 30 foreign countries are assigned fixed quota shares in the $3 billion-a-year U.S. sugar market. Prices are kept at artificial levels by jockeying the total quota to keep supply in balance with demand.

In addition, domestic growers get a subsidy of about $90 million a year in direct government payment, but the government more than makes up this amount through a sugar processing tax.

Under the new plan, both the $90 million subsidy and the offsetting tax would be repealed. But grower income would be protected by a new "target price" system under which farmers would get payments from the government if and when open-market prices fell below a support "target" which would be fixed by law.

Poage, a Texas Democrat, said the present quota program has served both consumers and farmers well for years at no cost to the government. But the new proposal, he said, might either prove costly to taxpayers or drive many sugar farmers out of business.

Sugar quota hiked for US during '74

WASHINGTON (CNS) — The Agriculture Department today announced the 1974 U.S. sugar requirement, setting that need at 11.8 million short tons.

The 11.8 million figure is an increase of 100,000 tons over need estimated Oct. 4, and the department said that the larger amount is expected to maintain raw sugar prices within the lawful price corridor.

The department determined sugar quota deficits of 700,000 and 392,000 tons respectively for Puerto Rico and the domestic beet area. The $892,000 ton deficit was allocated to the Philippines and the remainder to Western Hemisphere countries with 1974 quotas in effect.

No '74 quotas are yet established for the Bahamas and Uganda since the countries imported more sugar than they exported to the U.S. during the 24-month period ended June 30, 1973.

A reduction was made in '74 quotas for the West Indies (179,309 tons); Peru (12,793 tons); and Venezuela (8,426 tons) since the countries failed to fill 1973 quotas while exporting sugar to other countries.

Larger rice yield forecast for '74

LONDON (CNS) — The world's paddy rice crop this season is expected to substantially exceed the 1972-73 harvest, according to the Commonwealth Secretariat (CS) here today.

In the latest rice bulletin, the CS says harvesting in the Northern Hemisphere is progressing satisfactorily and, with the prospect of increased plantings in the Southern Hemisphere, the world output, including the Chinese crop, would be well above last year's level of 292 million tons.

As well as the 17 per cent rise indicated for US paddy output, a record harvest of 25 million tons is forecast for Indonesia while an anticipated Indian crop of 69 million tons would be 6 million tons above the 1972-73 level.

However, due to the gradual restriction in area seeded to rice since 1969, Taiwan is not likely to increase its rice production much in the near future.

In Mexico, attempts are being made to produce more rice in 1973-74 after the poor crop of around 403,000 tons last year due to rain damage. The harvest this year is expected to recover to 430,000 tons of paddy.

Subsidy proposed

(c) New York Times Service
BRUSSELS — The Common Market's executive commission has proposed that the group subsidize soybean production in Europe and encourage other protein-rich crops.

The European economic community's agricultural commissioner, Pierre Lardinois, said that with the soybean plan, Europe, which grows almost no soybeans now, could produce 100,000 tons by 1978. This would only represent, however, 2 per cent of the community's current demand.

Under the system, farmers would be guaranteed a fixed price for soybeans and get direct payments if the world price dropped below this level. Unlike EEC support systems for wheat and corn, there will be no restrictions on imports.

Lardinois said he would be surprised if the United States objected to the plan since the soybean production goal represented such a small part of EEC demand and the regulation would not change the duty-free status of U.S. soybean exports.

In the 1971-72 season the EEC imported 4.4 million tons of soybeans and products from the United States worth $1.2 billion. This year the exports jumped to 5.4 million tons and earnings soared in a crisis market to almost $2 billion dollars.

Gem slaughter up

BOISE (UPI) — September red meat production in Idaho commercial slaughter plants totaled 23.4 million pounds, unchanged from a year ago.

According to the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, the number of cattle slaughtered was down slightly for the period, but live weight was up, resulting in a two per cent increase in total live weight.

The hog kill for September was 24 per cent less than last year and the January to September total was running 27 per cent below a year ago.

The number of sheep slaughtered in the state during September was 37 per cent above a year ago.

Oakland school head shot down

MARCUS FOSTER
School head slain

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Three young black men, armed with a shotgun and pistol, killed the city's popular Negro schools superintendent and wounded his top aide Tuesday night in a parking-lot ambush near their office.

All available detectives were called in to search for the slayers of Dr. Marcus A. Foster, 50, who came here in 1970 from Philadelphia where he was honored for his outstanding work. He died from a "massive wound over his heart."

Associate Superintendent Robert Blackburn suffered wounds in the stomach and arm. He underwent emergency surgery at Highland Hospital, where his condition was reported as serious.

Police units were ordered to guard the homes of the victims.

Homicide inspectors talked with Blackburn before he underwent surgery. But they declined to say what prompted

Blackburn to win in Detroit

DETROIT (UPI) — State Sen. Coleman A. Young surged from far behind Tuesday night to score a narrow victory and become the first black mayor of the nation's fifth largest city.

The 55-year-old native of Tuscaloosa, Ala., once fired by the Ford Motor Co. for hitting a white co-worker with an iron bar during a racial fight, held a 12,000-vote lead with 90 percent of the vote counted.

His opponent, former Police Commissioner John F. Nichols, conceded just after midnight. "The race is over," Nichols said, sobbing supporters. "We have fought the good fight. We must now unite and move ourselves forward under Mayor Coleman Young."

Young pledged to keep racism out of City Hall.

HOISE — The State Permanent Building Fund Advisory Council Tuesday approved $5.3 million construction requests for the governor and the 1974 Legislature, placing heavy emphasis on education and the Capitol Mall project.

The council, meeting in Boise, made its recommendations after paring down about $40 million in construction requests that it had received from the state's agencies.

The most expensive projects on the priority list are a $1.75-million expansion to the central utility plant at the Capitol Mall area and $1.5 million to complete Phase I construction of a new science education building at Boise State College.

Commissioner of public works, Max Boesiger, said the permanent Building Fund, the source of construction money, was "highly underfunded," what is needed, "and council chairman Rep. Emery Hudlund, St. Maries, said it was "pretty hard to make $40 million go into $5 million."

The recommendations of the council will go to the governor, who will transmit to the 1974 legislature, which must make all appropriations from the fund.

Youth problem at penitentiary

(Special to the Times-News) BOISE — The director of the State Board of Corrections warned members of the Permanent Building Fund Advisory Council Tuesday there could be problems at the new state penitentiary this winter unless the energy of the youthful inmates is challenged.

Raymond May appealed to the council for reconsideration of its earlier denial of requests for leisure time and hobbycraft equipment for the multi-million dollar site.

The median prisoner age is 22 years, May told council members, and "with that kind of youth we have a potentially serious problem."

He told council members the equipment he was asking for was more important than a new chapel for the site, which he admitted had been urged by area religious groups. Without the equipment he asked for, May said, the new site was "like having a shell really without anything in it."

The council had decided at an earlier meeting to approve all but $17,000 of a $220,000 list of furnishing requests for the penitentiary. At May's prompting it agreed to consider his urgent request for another $9,500. The money

Fish, game agency plans construction

(Special to the Times-News) BOISE — The Idaho Fish and Game Department has plans for $53,000 in construction in the coming fiscal year, according to information made public Tuesday at a Permanent Building Fund Advisory Council meeting.

The proposed construction includes five separate projects, with the $18,400 construction of "concrete raceway floors at the Hagerman fish hatchery the most expensive one.

Last year the department proposed nearly $217,000 in construction projects. They are

New problem hits Mariner spaceship

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Jet Propulsion Laboratory officials discovered a new problem aboard Mariner 10 Tuesday. The spacecraft's "plasma science experiment" to measure voltages in the solar wind — a continuous stream of particles from the sun — malfunctioned.

Heaters in Mariner's television cameras continued to sizzle — they went out shortly after launch last Friday in Florida — but pictures of the earth and moon were still transmitted.

A JPL spokesman said the problem with the "plasma science experiment" was that "we are not getting the full range of measurements. It's supposed to measure the high and low range, but we're at getting the high one."

A series of commands were to be sent to the spacecraft today in an attempt to solve the problem.

As for the heaters in the television cameras, "The temperatures are still getting colder, but not as fast as they were," the spokesman said. "The latest pictures still show no indication of defocusing or distortion caused by the cold."

The approved projects include:

- Remodeling of the attorney general's office in the statehouse, $6,500;
- Remodeling of the Department of Public Lands offices in the statehouse, $180,000;
- Addition to the central utility plant, $1.75 million;
- Removal of obsolescent buildings around the Capitol Mall area, $50,000;
- Landscaping and sprinkler improvements in the mall area, $50,000;
- Expansion of the heating plant at the University of Idaho, $435,000;
- Boise State science building, $1.5 million;
- Classroom addition at the Eastern Idaho Vo-Tech School, $85,000;
- Construction of a laundry room at the State Youth Training Center in St. Anthony, $130,000;
- Sidewalks and museum access at the State Historical Society, $7,500;
- Addition to the museum's storage area, $15,000;
- Painting of the Idaho Falls National Guard Armory, $5,000;
- Repair and seal coating at seven armories, $20,000;
- Area office addition to the Boise office, Department of Public Lands, $73,000;

Public Lands Fire Warehouse, Coeur d'Alene, $122,500.

The council also approved $160,000 in a contingency fund for the Building Fund and $50,000 for payment of interest on tax anticipation notes. Also included in the package was a $284,000 Department of Public Works budget.

Council members also discussed future Capitol Mall construction. Boesiger said money from the insurance fund could pay for a $1 million project, "when consideration was made for the money the state now spends on rent in Boise for office space."

Director of the Department of Administrative Services, D. E. (Skip) Chilberg, told council members he hoped to have the state return to the system of charging its own agencies for rent. Chilberg said he would seek legislation next year to give the Division of Building Services authority to operate multi-agency buildings around the state.

Boesiger also said creation of a State Building Authority was being considered to self-tax free revenue bonds to finance construction of office space and charging rent to agencies to pay off the costs.

Charge dropped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) today dropped all charges of false advertising against "Hi-C" fruit drinks, ending a three-year case once regarded as a major part of a government crackdown on advertising.

By a 4-1 vote the FTC dismissed allegations that Hi-C misrepresented the nature, nutritional value and content of its fruit drinks. The original complaint, first proposed in September of 1970, contended that Hi-C was not high in vitamin C compared to natural fruit juices and was not "unqualifiedly good" for children.

But the commission said today it was unable to find "persuasive evidence" that the Coca-Cola Co., and its advertising agency, the Marschall Co. of New York, promoted Hi-C as the equivalent of fresh orange juice.

US voters give split decision

United Press International Voters returned a split decision in the nation's first two statewide elections since the Watergate-Agnew political earthquakes.

Democrats captured the New Jersey governorship Tuesday with a first-time candidate pledging "clean government." Republicans held on to the Virginia statehouse with a veteran politician who changed parties but promised old time stability.

Democrat Brendan Byrne's landslide in New Jersey and the squeaker victory of Republican Mills Godwin in Virginia made the party division of governors 32 Democrats to 18 Republicans.

That continued a five-year slide for the GOP since the 1968 elections, when the situation was exactly the reverse: 32 GOP statehouses to 18 Democratic. It was the Democrat's best majority since 1964, when they held 33 governorships.

Their high water mark in the 50-state era was 34 governorships from 1960 through 1964. The two state campaigns were waged against the backdrop of popping political scandal in Washington, but Watergate and the Vice President's resignation were regarded as only indirect issues.

However, New Jersey's Republican administration had its own scandals—several of Gov. William Cahill's appointees were indicted this year—and Byrne made a strong appeal for reform legislation to assure citizens that state officials "are working for the people, and not for themselves."

GOP Rep. Charles Sandman, whom Byrne defeated for the New Jersey governorship, declared that "the Republican Party has taken a smashing defeat across the nation. The national scene did not help."

MI elects Everett

MOUNTAIN HOME (UPI) — Mayor Vern Everett won election to the job to which he was appointed last July. He defeated Ted J. Mikolajczyk (Michael O'Jack) 798 to 398 — a two to one margin.

City Council winners were Bruce Hicks, 883, and Lucille Davis, 883.

Write-in candidate wins

SALMON (UPI) — Write-in candidate Don Dial defeated incumbent William J. Cannon for mayor here by a 345-263 margin. In the city council race, Jim Bennett, 534, Dale Smith, 418, and Robert Stephenson, 206, defeated Margaret Nilsson, 201; Elmer Ingham, 238, and Merle Littott, 102.

Rupert man knifed

BURLEY — A Rupert man was treated and released at the Cassia Memorial Hospital Monday night after he was knifed by two unknown assailants.

George Castillo Reyes, 20, Rupert, had apparently just gotten out of his car to enter the home of a friend, Rosa Munoz, Burley, when two men approached him, and without saying a word, slashed him with a knife.

According to Miss Munoz, the two escaped in a small car. Burley police still are investigating the incident; no suspects have been apprehended.

Food producers to meet

BOISE (UPI) — Agricultural labor problems will be the subject of a talk by Donald Curlee, San Mateo, Calif., at the third annual meeting of Food Producers, of Idaho, Inc., Nov. 12.

Curlee is the assistant executive secretary for the California Council of Agricultural Growers.

The one-day meeting will include panel discussion, reports and speakers.

Luck runs out

BOISE (UPI) — Boise's tennis-shoed candidate for mayor had nothing but bad luck with his campaign.

Bryson Smith literally ran in at the last minute with his petition but did not have enough signatures from registered voters to qualify for the ballot, so he campaigned as a write-in candidate.

But even worse luck caught up with Smith election morning when a marshal picked him up on a court order and took him to Boise City Jail to face charges, all for minor offenses.

Police reported Smith was very anxious to be let out of jail long enough to vote. But they couldn't let him because the judge's order said the candidate had to remain in jail until his fines of $115 and court costs of $67.50 had been satisfied.

Impeachment favored

LEWISTON (UPI) — Idaho's four-member congressional delegation reports letters, telegrams and telephone calls they are receiving run about 10-to-1 in favor of impeaching President Nixon.

Lewiston Morning Tribune political writer Bill Hall disclosed the finding in a story published today.

Hall said members of the delegation do not believe that anti-Nixon feeling runs as high among all Idahoans as the letters, telegrams and phone calls indicate.

"Advocates of impeachment tend to be more inflamed and the remaining supports of the President remained subdued," Hall said.

Payette man dies

PAYETTE, Idaho (UPI) — Frank Edward Lupinacci, 27, Payette, was killed in a car-train collision Tuesday at a railroad crossing at Seventh Avenue North in Payette.

Police Chief Fred Hickman said witnesses reported the man "just pulled onto the tracks" into the path of the Union Pacific freight train.

The chief said the crossing is "one of the faster crossings" but it is marked with flashing lights and signs. The victim was thrown from the car by the impact with the Union Pacific freight train.

6 public hearings set

BOISE (UPI) — Proposed reorganization of the executive branch of state government into 17 major agencies will be aired at six public hearings the week of Dec. 3.

Myron Schlichte, director of the legislative council, said the hearings will be held across the state. He added the proposals also will get "quite an airing" in the next session of the legislature.

Schlichte said the proposal reflects an early policy decision of the reorganization commission to group government offices along functional lines.

Murtaugh race close

MURTAUGH — Three City Council incumbents were returned to office here in a close, 13 ballot race.

Taking the lead was Orville Wright with 13 votes. Wallace Christensen and Leland Barks tied for second with 12 votes each. No one challenged the three councilmen for their seats.

Hansen woman elected

HANSEN — Two incumbents and a new councilwoman won positions on the Hansen City Council in the Tuesday election.

George Urle, incumbent, received 75 votes to lead in the number of ballots while Sandra Golay, a new comer to Hansen city politics, was second with 65 votes. Another incumbent, James Hopkins, with 44 votes, was defeated with the third council seat going to John Drashler with 51 votes.

Residents of Hansen were asked to express views on dog control measures for the city to serve as a guideline in future council action. A total of 71 persons voted in favor and 18 voted against such measures.

Weather problem

MALTA — Winter weather may halt a drill in its probe for gas or oil near here.

If the weather is going to remain cold and stormy, Standard American president Al Griffith said Tuesday. "It might be wise to wait until spring" to drill a new well.

The Texas-based company's first drilling attempt about one-half mile north of Strevell was abandoned at a depth of about 7,000 feet late last month.

The firm planned to move the drilling rig to a new location in the same area and resume drilling this month.

The cost of the drilling operation is about 30 per cent higher in the winter, Griffith said, because of the need for heaters, blowers and other special equipment. If the winter weather doesn't hold back for awhile, the company may delay setting up the new drill until spring, he said.

TF residents protest zoning variance

By GEORGE WILEY
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — More than a dozen persons crowded into the Twin Falls County commissioners office Tuesday to protest a proposed zoning variance for Lynwood Development Co.

Lynwood officials petitioned the county last spring to grant a variance in zoning from agricultural-residential to commercial-general for about 33 acres of Snake River Canyon rimland just west of the Perrino Bridge which the company plans to develop into a hotel-condominium-business complex.

The variance was approved by the county zoning board on Oct. 11 by a vote of 5 to 2. Approval by the commissioners is the final step necessary before the firm can begin construction.

After listening to four hours of pro and con testimony Tuesday, the commissioners, on the motion of commissioner William Wiseman, took the variance request under advisement, promising a recommendation at 10:30 a.m. Thursday.

Much of the testimony at the public hearing Tuesday took the form of pleas for the commissioners to delay action on the Lynwood request until the new zoning ordinance is completed, along with a new planned unit development ordinance which would require a developer to follow strictly development plans as approved by the county.

Ironically, the commissioners in deciding to act on the variance request under the present zoning ordinance, set the time for their decision Thursday only a few hours before they are scheduled to meet with the zoning board to offer recommendations and amendments on the new ordinance which may result in its passage.

At issue in the Lynwood variance request was not only the extension of commercialization along Blue Lakes Boulevard North — the Lynwood tract contains about 2,200 feet of Blue Lakes frontage, of which about 500 feet is planned for commercial development — but also the private development of the Snake River Canyon rim, the latter at the heart of the controversy over the proposed new zoning ordinance.

Dorothy Geist, canyon study co-chairman for the Twin Falls League of Women Voters, presented the commissioners with a letter from the League urging them to "rethink" the Lynwood variance request to the zoning board for consideration under the new ordinance.

Mrs. Geist also urged that the Lynwood project be handled under the proposed planned unit development ordinance, with full consultation with the city of Twin Falls in the approval process.

"I don't think you county commissioners have ever had to make such an important decision before and you shouldn't rush into it," she said, arguing that approval now would set a precedent for the continued commercialization of Blue Lakes Boulevard and the residential development of the canyon rim.

David Mead, representing the preservationist group, Canyon Inc., also urged delay on the Lynwood variance. The scenic beauty of the canyon, he said, precluded its being developed solely for profit. He said he thought the commissioners had been "given a mandate" by concerned citizens to give the whole canyon question further study.

Mead said if the Lynwood project was handled as a planned unit development to ensure that the developers would follow their plans as presented "it would be a different story."

Craig Neilson, an interest holder and attorney for Lynwood, presented the commissioners with a letter stating that Lynwood's plans were a "logical extension of the commercial area on Blue Lakes, and at the same time preserves the beauty and serenity of the Snake River Canyon."

Neilson's letter also objected to consideration of the Lynwood project under the proposed planned unit development (PUD) ordinance. He told the commissioners the PUD was designed for wealthy developers such as those operating near Sun Valley, Lynwood, he said, did not have the financial resources to implement a plan which could not be adjusted to economic conditions.

Neilson also told the commissioners that to delay approval on the variance request would work hardships on the firm, causing "at least another year's postponement of our project." League of Women Voters president Ella Nelson said Lynwood was, by asking not to be considered under a PUD, requesting the county for a variance by which the firm would amass "lot of money" without promising anything in return.

Hailey woman selected Idaho teacher of year

HAILEY — Barbara Dargatz, Wood River High School office occupations teacher, has been named as Idaho's Teacher of the Year. In a letter announcing the selection, State Supt. of Public Instruction D. F. Engelking said Mrs. Dargatz was chosen on the basis of her dedication to the profession, her ability to instill the love of learning in her students and her work within the community.

Mrs. Dargatz began teaching at Wood River High School two years ago after teaching for 17 years at Boise high schools. She conducts six classes a day, including typing, shorthand and office practice.

In addition, last year she initiated a series of adult evening classes, offering typing and shorthand. This year, Mrs. Dargatz and Mrs. Jeannie Frost, Carey, teach about 50 students.

Two years ago, Mrs. Dargatz — assisted by Wood River Principal John Barton, Asst. Supt. Ray Jefferson and the State Dept. of Vocational Education — established and obtained funding for a co-operative work experience program.

Federal grants, including $23,000 for the 1972-

73 school year and $20,000 for the 1973-74 year, covered equipment, furnishings, books, supplies and partial salary costs for the program.

Mrs. Dargatz said under the program students attend classes for half of the school day then are placed in training stations to obtain experience and pay. She said she felt program gives the students, in addition to work experience, a "sophistication that a graduating senior just doesn't have."

Six seniors participated in the program last year and 12 are participating this year.

Mrs. Dargatz said business education was "kind of a self-help program," providing the student with skills to enable her to become self-sufficient or to upgrade the skills she already possesses.

Mrs. Dargatz said she believed in the "practical side of education."

"Our function in school is to start youngsters on the track they will continue on" and to promote self-motivation so the student will want to continue to learn, she said.

Barton said, "We are extremely pleased that Mrs. Dargatz has been chosen as Idaho's Teacher of the Year."

The Wood River High School principal said Mrs. Dargatz was "an example of fairness and dedication, not only to the teaching profession but to her students." Barton also said she was "a sample of the caliber of teachers at the school."

Mrs. Dargatz was named Boise Teacher of the Year in 1971 by the Boise Education Association. Also in 1971, Boise public school business teachers selected her as the Outstanding Business Educator of the Year.

Mrs. Dargatz received a B. S. degree in secretarial science and her fifth year in education from Oregon State University. She received her M.E.D. in counseling and secondary school administration from the College of Idaho.

Prior to teaching in Boise schools, she taught in California and Oregon. She also had about eight years of office experience, serving as a legal secretary and working in investment counseling.

Jerome 'account square'

JEROME — A State Department of Education official said Tuesday the Jerome School District's "account is squared" following audit exceptions found in the driver education program.

Dr. Reid Bishop, the department's bureau of financial services head, said unless the Jerome district appealed the findings of the audit or the remedy imposed the case would be closed. About $1,300 will be deducted from the district's check for the coming term to make up for the loss in funds.

An audit of the district's driver education program last month revealed several "exceptions," including claims for salary money amounting to $1,300 that was not paid to anyone. The audit also contained several findings that were critical of the district's bookkeeping system.

Bishop said the departments concern with the district is now that it "get its accounting procedures and reporting procedures in order." But he said no legal action was being contemplated against the district.

Duane Kirk, the head of the department's driver education, performed the audit in three days early in October. He said last week he didn't know where the $1,300 went when it reached Jerome. But he said he had been told it went into the school's general fund account.

Bishop confirmed that the department didn't know where the funds had gone. But he said the district's own internal audit at the end of the fiscal year would probably reveal the information.

Sheriff snowbound

CALDWELL (UPI) — Canyon County Sheriff George Nourse, scheduled to address today's Headliner luncheon for the Idaho Press Club, has had to postpone his talk until the weather improves.

Through radio messages relayed by several sheriff's departments Nourse sent word that he is snowbound at the Hedding Ranch on the South Fork of the Salmon River.

TF vote low

TWIN FALLS — Voters in the Magic Valley showed yesterday that the size of the town does not necessarily reflect the turnout of registered voters.

In Twin Falls, 1,270 out of 3,428 registered voters went to the polls. Burley and Rupert, both smaller towns, produced bigger turnouts than that in Twin Falls.

A total of 1,714 ballots were cast by 2,111 registered Burley voters and in Rupert, 1,327 ballots were cast by 1,550 registered voters. Gooding and Wendell both also reported good voter turnouts.

Referendum plan dropped

William Whitaker got 264 votes; Robert Ward, 244 votes, and John Woodbury, who had dropped out of the race, got 17 votes.

Heagle, Dunn and Angell had been backed by the Committee for Responsible Government. Rutter, Ward and Whitaker were Council for the Defense of the Wood River Valley candidates. Precinct 2 completed its final vote tally at about 11 p.m. Tuesday. Precinct 1, which had to recheck for an error in voter tallying, completed its unofficial vote count at about 12:45 a.m. today.

Heagle, commenting on the election "I never doubted for one minute that the good people of Hailey would be taken in by the untruths and propaganda hurled at the City Council actions and especially by the 'editor of the Ketchum Tomorrow'."

The incumbent said he was "deeply grateful to all the people who rallied behind our campaign." He also welcomed the opposition to "come forth and work with us toward making Hailey a proud, clean and friendly town in which to live."

Horace Self, project manager for the McCulloch Properties, Inc., Woodside Development, said "we're very happy about the whole thing."

Self said, "now that the people of Hailey have demonstrated that they are behind us, we simply want to assure them that we will do everything we can to live-up-to-end-of-the-bargain and build an addition to the community of which the community can be proud."

The incumbent Dunn said he personally felt "our main controversy between candidates and the issues involved have been severely motivated by foreign publications."

Ostyn seen as TF mayor

By DAVID HORSMAN
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — A Times-News survey of the reorganized Twin Falls City Council indicates that Paul Ostyn will be the next mayor of the city.

Mayor John Christoffersen did not seek re-election Tuesday. He has held the mayoral post for two years.

Five of the seven council members, including those elected Tuesday, said they would support Ostyn for mayor.

The remaining two were undecided but said they would probably vote with the majority.

The council elects a mayor from its ranks at the first meeting in January following a city election.

Ostyn, a four-year veteran on the council, is director of high school relations at the College of Southern Idaho.

No sign — no serve

EDEN-HAZELTON — It was a quiet election Tuesday in Eden and Hazelton in eastern Jerome County.

The only trouble was that one candidate in each town was not registered, and therefore cannot legally serve.

In Hazelton, the candidate, Kenneth Bowlin, was defeated so it caused no problem, but in Eden, councilmen and City Atty. S. A. Kolman are studying what to do about Don McFarland who was elected, but apparently cannot serve on the council.

Mrs. Gordon Newbury, Eden city clerk, said it was discovered the candidate was not registered several days ago, but it was too late to remove his name from the ballot and McFarland was of available to be informed of the situation in time for him to register.

She said city officials contacted the state attorney general's office and were informed that because of the candidate's failure to register, he cannot legally serve under Idaho statute.

McFarland received 15 votes and Kenneth Hutchins and Earl Clark each received 14 votes in the Eden election. All three were unopposed and there was no mayoral election.

In Hazelton, Don E. Crumrine, incumbent, re-elected with 61 votes, and Harry Kurtz, with 69, will fill the two council posts. Defeated candidates were Mrs. Floyd Bowlin and her brother-in-law, Kenneth Bowlin, each of whom received 19 votes.

James N. Dryden, running unopposed, was elected mayor of Hazelton, with 81 votes. He has served six years on the City Council, part of this time as chairman.

Rupert vote turnout high

By MARILYN ELLIOTT
Times-News writer

RUPERT — Area mayoral elections Tuesday produced an extremely tight race in one city and a near landslide in another, with voter turnout high everywhere.

Rupert Mayor Wendell Johnson said he was "not a bit surprised" by the slim 11-vote margin which returned him to office against challenger W. F. (Bill) Whitton. Johnson said he had expected the vote to be close.

Whitton, who had based his campaign on the belief that "people want a change from the federal level on down," pulled a strong following. He could not be reached today for comment.

Advertising campaigns for the two Rupert mayoral candidates identified the last few days before the election as the candidates and their supporters presented charges and countercharges against their opponents.

"I want to thank the voters for the majority vote in my bid for re-election," Johnson said. "I will give all of my 17 years experience to advance Rupert."

"I hope I have the people's full cooperation so that together we can move Rupert forward in all phases of development," he said.

Following a quiet and near issueless campaign Burley city clerk Charles (Chuck) Shaddock pulled a near landslide win for the Burley mayoral position.

"I was really surprised by the margin (nearly 400 votes ahead of his nearest opponent, councilman Sylvan Burg), Shaddock said today. "I thought it would be a lot closer."

Shaddock will have to appoint a new city clerk in January to replace himself when he steps into the mayor's office. He has not yet selected a replacement, he said, "because I wanted to see if I was on the winning side before I made any selection."

Jerome school land application okayed

By CHARLOTTE BELL
Times-News writer

JEROME — Jerome School District has been notified by the Bureau of Land Management its application for 120 acres of land east of Jerome has been approved.

On Aug. 13 the school board gave Supt. John Campbell permission to submit an application to the BLM for purchase of the land which is located one-fourth mile south of the State Highway 93 and 25 junction on the west side of Highway 93 about three and one-fourth miles east of Jerome.

Campbell told the board at that time it would cost the district $10 to apply for the land and if the district were able to obtain it would cost

$2.50 per acre for a total of $300. Purchase of the land "would mean a great saving to the district in construction of a new high school. Also we would have plenty of room for expansion if it is found in the future that an elementary school building is needed," Campbell said at the meeting.

Campbell also said part of the acreage could be farmed by the vocational agriculture department and explained that the district would have to check into extra expenses involved in having the school located out of town.

Since the board approved making the application, Campbell has been checking into the architectural costs of constructing a new high school and the site and the possibility of using a metal building for the school. He is expected to give a complete report to the school board.

The BLM, in its notification, has classified the land as suitable for recreation and public purpose under the recreation and Public Purpose Act. This classification will segregate the land from all other appropriations.

In the classification it was stated that the land was physically suitable for the proposed use and education complex proposed by the school district.

Prior to issuance of any patent on the land the school board must submit documentation showing that the proposed project has been authorized and that an adequate plan of development showing in detail the amount of land necessary to facilitate the educational complex should be submitted prior to patenting the land.

The school district should also submit evidence that the proposed use is consistent with Jerome County's comprehensive plan which will not be complete until July, 1974, and Idaho Department of Highway Plans.

The Jerome City Council was given 30 days from Tuesday night in which to comment on or protest the proposed decision. It was agreed by council members that no objection would be made.

Market Review

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks opened irregularly lower Wednesday on the New York Stock Exchange. Trading was moderate. Minutes after the opening, the Dow Jones Industrial average had dropped 0.75 to 912.40. Declines and advances were in close balance, among the 303 issues traded.

Stocks took a beating Tuesday for the seventh consecutive session, wiping out the gains of a short-lived early rally. The Dow dropped 0.32 to 913.08, bringing the seven-day loss to 72.91 points.

Analysts said the energy crisis has become the chief market depressant, partially eclipsing concern over President Nixon's political future, and the prospect of more fighting in the Middle East.

Underlining the severity of the situation, President Nixon is expected to address the nation Wednesday night on the seriousness of the fuel shortages and what measures will be taken in response.

Idaho Valley Weather Report

Warm, damp weather expected

Twin Falls, Burley, Rupert, and Idaho Falls are in the path of a low pressure system moving from the Pacific Northwest. The system is expected to bring warm, damp weather to the region. High temperatures are expected to be in the 50s and 60s, with light rain or drizzle. The system is expected to move through the region by Thursday.

Watergate panel hears testimony

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Watergate Committee heard testimony Tuesday from a Fresno, Calif., Republican chairman who told of a violent demonstration staged against a 1972 GOP rally by persons he believed to be members of the United Farm Workers Union.

The California GOP leader, Truman Campbell, said several witnesses attending the meeting were hit and shoved by demonstrators and one woman had her wig removed.

Campbell said that he understood the UFW demonstrators were supported financially by Sen. George S. McGovern's campaign, but under cross-examination he conceded he had no evidence to support that claim.

The testimony, the first by witnesses called by Republicans since the hearings began May 17, was in connection with the so-called dirty tricks phase of the hearings.

Campaign financing testimony begins

Wednesday

Four witnesses were scheduled to testify Tuesday. Michael Heller, 19, a student who worked in the Democratic Youth for Nixon campaign in California. He said McGovern campaign workers distributed literature in Jewish neighborhoods saying "Nixon is Goyt," a Yiddish word meaning non-Kosher.

Heller said that he saw McGovern workers passing out the leaflets and said he saw large stacks of them in McGovern's store-front headquarters.

The others summoned by the committee Tuesday were Rep. Tim Lee Carter, R-Ky., called to testify about anti-Nixon demonstrations at the 1972 Republican National Convention at Miami Beach, and Boston's police superintendent, Jeremiah Sullivan, who was said to be prepared to link Democrats to a demonstration against an appearance by Mrs. Nixon in Boston Oct. 31, 1972.

House committee votes to up Social Security

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House Ways and Means Committee voted 13 to 12 Tuesday to increase Social Security benefits 10 per cent next July 3.

The increase would be financed through greater payroll taxes for higher income groups. Some Democrats served notice they would try to make the increase 12 per cent — with 7 per cent in the March 3 benefits check and the remainder next Nov. 3 — when the bill reaches the House floor.

An assistant HEW secretary, Stephen Kurzman, had told the committee Monday that he would recommend that President Nixon veto a bill calling for a 12 per cent boost. The administration had indicated it would go along with the 10 per cent boost.

The full committee had been scheduled to vote Monday on a Social Security increase, already scheduled for House floor action Wednesday, but delayed a vote until Tuesday morning at the request of Republicans.

Committee sentiment appeared to lean heavily toward the increase recommended by the subcommittee.

Following a day of proposals, counter-proposals and compromises, the committee appeared to have boiled its choices down to:

— The subcommittee proposal for a 12 per cent increase with 7 per cent effective in March 3 checks, and the remaining 5 per cent coming probably in November or December.

— A 10 per cent increase effective with July 3 checks. The administration said it could live with this proposal.

The increases in both proposals would amount to granting early payment of the scheduled Jan. 1, 1975, cost of living increase, considered certain to be at least 11.5 per cent. Any early increase would be subtracted from that.

Both proposals contemplate an increase to $13,200 in the salary base on which Social Security payroll taxes must be paid. In 1974 the base will be set at $12,600.

The committee appeared determined to hold to the present tax rate of 5.85 per cent, thus not increasing taxes in lower income brackets.

Whether the full House and Senate would go along with this proposal is in question. The Senate Finance Committee already has approved a 7 per cent increase on enactment, but with no increase in taxes.

1973 conflict costs Israel

TEL AVIV (UPI) — Israel said today 1,854 of its soldiers were killed in the October Middle East war and about 1,800 others were wounded and hospitalized.

The 1973 conflict was Israel's costliest conflict in terms of human life except for the 1948 war when about 4,500 Israeli soldiers died. A total of 803 persons was killed in the 1967 Six Day War.

Judge halts confiscation of unstamped cigarettes

SPOKANE (UPI) — U.S. District Court Judge Charles Powell Monday granted a temporary restraining order preventing the state from future seizures of unstamped cigarettes bound for Indian reservations in the state.

Judge Powell entered the order after hearing arguments presented by the state and attorneys representing the Colville, Yakima, Lummi and Makah tribes, who announced several months ago they were going to fight the seizure and a class-action suit.

Judge Powell said he would like to see a return to the "status quo" while larger issues of state jurisdiction over Indians are decided in state courts and the U.S. Supreme Court.

So far this year, the State Department of Revenue has conducted 20 seizures which resulted in confiscation of 62,125 cartons of cigarettes. Sold through normal channels, the cigarettes would have produced $112,446 in revenue.

The temporary order applies until the entire case the tribes have filed against the state can be decided in a trial before a three-judge panel. No date has yet been set for the trial.

Historical railway ends record season

CHAMA, N.M. (UPI) — Officials of the Cumbres and Toltec Scenic Railroad announced Monday that the narrow gauge railroad between Chama and Antonito, Colo., carried a record 27,073 passengers during the 1973 season.

The railroad, owned by the states of Colorado and New Mexico and leased to Scenic Railways, Inc., carried 8,700 passengers in its first season in 1971 and 19,424 last year.

Manager Fritz Baur said the 60 per cent increase in passengers was not up to company expectations.

"We feel that the gasoline shortage scare in midsummer kept many potential patrons away," Baur said.

The states of Colorado and New Mexico purchased the railroad in 1970 from the Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroad, which had announced plans to scrap the historic narrow gauge railroad. The 64 miles of track was laid in 1880.

Scenic operates the railroad for the two states under a long-standing agreement.

Baur said the railroad plans

Fundamental

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — The Fundamental Orders, Connecticut's first constitution, were adopted Jan. 14, 1636. The spirit of the Orders was laid down earlier in a sermon by the Rev. Thomas Hooker, who said: "The foundation of authority is laid in the free consent of the people."

Ketchum man skis for Boise

KETCHUM — Bill Shaw, Ketchum, is attending Boise State College on a full-athletic scholarship.

This winter, Shaw will be skiing for the Boise State Ski Team, coached by Ron Sergeant, and will participate at the NCAA races.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. William Shaw, Ketchum, Shaw recently trained with the U.S. National Ski Team at the fall camp at Elkhorn and is on the U.S. Ski Team-B Squad. In 1972, he was the Junior National Champion and in 1971 and 1972 he was the top boy racer of the year for the Intermountain division.

LA museum loses items

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Los Angeles County Museum conducted an inventory recently and discovered that 78 rare Navajo blankets valued at $174,000 were missing, authorities disclosed Monday.

Sixteen of the blankets, some of them woven more than 100 years ago, have been recovered in San Francisco and Boulder, Colo. They were valued at $46,000.

Police sent descriptions of the wool and flannel blankets to other art museums, collectors and dealers across the nation.

What's What

L. M. Boyd

That titillating nightclub performance known as the striptease is properly danced to three tunes. They're called trailers. First is slow. Second is medium. Third is fast. A professional striptease artist writes to report that she says a single strip should take about eight minutes.

A medical expert contends the only normal swimming stroke for the human being is the dog paddle. He's the same fellow who claimed baseball pitchers go through motions completely unnatural for their bodies. However, he says football running backs do move in a manner appropriate for their physique.

COMEDIES

Q. "I'm 36, and my dad tells me I was born in the year of the great screen comedies. What comedies?"

A. Believe he's got that right. The year 1937 produced "It Happened One Night," "My Man Godfrey," "The Awful Truth," "Nothing Sacred" and "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town." Now ask your dad where we came up with the word "pulsated."

Q. "What proportion of those husbands and wives who divorce and then marry each other wind up as miserable that they get divorced all over again?"

A. About 35 per cent, I'm told. And our Love and War man says another 15 per cent say they wish they'd stayed divorced.

Preferred pronunciation of "Caribbean," remember, puts the emphasis on the "be." Lot of argument over that. Incidentally, I know the Caribbean got its name from the Carib natives who lived thereabouts, but how did the natives come by that name?

TO THE LADIES

I have teased the ladies too much in this column. It's an ungallant habit that dates all the way back to the days when a bashful schoolboy dipped pigtails in inkwells because he admired the girls, but didn't know how to talk to them. That was long ago and far away, and this is a different climate, and women write me now they don't want to be provoked with this hollow humor, but rather respected, and I don't blame them. It isn't right that a lad should constantly pull loose their ribbons, just because he wants to kiss them. My cap is in my hand. Apologies.

Quick, name the first fruit that pops into your mind. If you didn't say apple, you are in the minority among those so swiftly queried in this matter. Or such be indicated by numerous tests in universities.

Exactly 18 per cent of the men and 17 per cent of the women tell pollsters they get up at 6 a.m. weekdays. But they don't say why.

Don't forget, all porpoises are born breech, as it were, tail first.

Horoscope

Carroll Righter

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1973

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You are overzealous to put a new plan in action. Although the idea itself is probably good, you need more real information, so avoid impulsive moves.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You gain personal aims more easily with less forceful methods. Be thoughtful of others. Evening favors social matters.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make preparations now for added security. Sit down with an expert and get the information you need. Handle routine efficiently.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Friends gladly help you get into new outlets, but be willing to do much of the work yourself. You can advance more quickly via some group affair.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Talk over some plan with an expert, but don't be demanding. Use diplomacy instead. Getting into civic affairs is wise now.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Before jumping into new outlets, be sure you talk them over with those who are most successful in the business. Make plans to travel later.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Pay bills and make collections early. Do what will make your mate happier, also. Avoid one who could get you into trouble.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't permit some dynamic associate to push you around too much or you really can make big mistakes, tire yourself out. Avoid one who opposes you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't put your work on others who have enough to do, but handle it yourself. Work at a steady pace, though, so you don't get overtired.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Handle important work carefully, then enjoy amusements. Try not to be too demanding with mate. Show deep devotion for right results.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Don't argue at home; get busy and make it more charming and functional, otherwise serious trouble could develop. Pay bills. Take that chip off your shoulder.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can handle all your affairs well now, provided you exercise great care in driving, walking, since your mind is working very carefully, cleverly. Bigwigs help.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You want to increase income and can put your ideas to work to accomplish just that. Avoid extravagance. Be practical and you succeed.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY — he or she will be one of those quick-acting and clever young people who will require the finest education to bring out the wonderful talents and gain the fame possible here, whether in business or cultural world. Give the studied discipline early that will teach self-control. Teach to complete whatever is started, since this is the key to success in this chart. Religious training early. "The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Baltimore's Jim Palmer wins AL Cy Young award

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jim Palmer, whose 10 straight wins from July 6 to Aug. 26 and 22 victories during the season prevented the Baltimore Orioles' pitching staff from collapsing, was named the American League's Cy Young award winner today by the Baseball Writers Association of America.

Palmer, who has compiled a 99-42 five-season record since his career was threatened by a sore arm in 1968, won the award by a 26-point margin over Nolan Ryan of the California Angels. Jim Hunter of the Minnesota Twins and Gaylord Perry of the Cleveland Indians with one each. Perry was the AL's pitcher of the year in 1972 when he had a 24-16 record.

Palmer, who said during the World Series that he thought he deserved the award, had a 22-9 record and led the league with a 2.40 earned run average. He was the only Oriole starting pitcher who pitched consistently throughout the season and his 10 straight victories from July 6 to Aug. 26 kept his team in contention in the AL's Eastern Division race.

"He was the one who did it all season," said Manager Earl Weaver of the Orioles. "The other starters all had arm ailments or other troubles at some points of the season."

Palmer was the No. 1 reason that we won the division championship. "The 28-year right-hander was in Pittsburgh participating in the wine and cheese cellaring tourney when the announcement was made by Jack Lang of the BBWAA."

Palmer is the first Baltimore pitcher to win the award outright although Mike Cuellar shared it with Denny McLain in 1969 when both won 24 games.

A World Series hero at the age of 20 when he beat the Dodgers' Sandy Koufax in the second game of the 1969 series, 6-0, Palmer developed a sore arm in 1967. He pitched in the International League and Florida State League in 1967 and 1969 before returning to the Orioles in 1969. Since then his successive won-lost records have been 16-4, 20-10, 20-9, 22-9, and 22-9.

Palmer received 14 first-place votes and six second-place votes from the committee of 24 writers. Ryan, who had a 21-16 record, pitched two no-hitters and struck out a record 383 batters, had nine first-place votes, three for second and eight for third. Hunter, 21-5, for the season, had the other first-place vote, 13 seconds and eight thirds.

Upset of Arizona State marks coach of week of Utah's Meek

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—Utah's Bill Meek considers himself a "freak" among college football coaches.

The six-year head coach at Utah dives his quarterbacks and his coaching assistants a free hand once the game starts, while he directs only the offensive backs.

"I advise the quarterback and running backs," says Meek. "I tell them what's wrong and what not to use, but they're in there playing it their game."

Meek's style had come under criticism this fall as Utah fans wanted him to take a stronger hand following a 66-16 loss to UCLA and a 42-21 Western Athletic Conference loss at the hands of Arizona. But last weekend it paid off as the Utes upset previously undefeated Arizona State 36-31, ending the longest winning streak in college football at 12 games, and earned Meek UPI's coach of the week honors.

Game No. 13 proved to be the unlucky one for Arizona State as the Utes cashed in on 10 Sun Devil turnovers for an early 30-3 lead and came up with a clutch 95-yard touchdown drive in the fourth quarter for the win.

"Our kids showed they had real character," Meek said. "They could have folded against Arizona State. The Sun Devils put pressure on you every down. They had the ball inside our 10 for five downs, threatening to go ahead. But our defense stopped them."

Then the offense turned right around and moved 95 yards for a score and we had them by 12 points. If they had scored on us, then we'd have been struggling to catch up—instead it was them."

"Every football player needs that kind of upset win somewhere along the line. Then you can say you beat one of the best. It doesn't happen often, especially against a team like Arizona State," the Alabama native drawled.

St. Louis to host new cage tournament

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Big-time college basketball will be back at the St. Louis Arena next March with the first competition in the Collegiate Commissioners' Association tournament, CCA organizers announced Tuesday.

The tournament will feature runners-up from major conferences throughout the country. Chuck Neinas, commissioner of the Big Eight and chairman of the CCA tournament committee, said nine major conferences have agreed to commit a team to the competition for the first commissioners' cup.

Committed to the tournament are the Big Eight, Big Ten, Mid-American, Missouri Valley, Pacific 8, Southeastern, Southern, Southwest, and Western Athletic.

Neinas explained that he, Stan Bates of the Western Athletic Conference and Fred Jacoby of the Mid-American Conference will serve as the tournament selection committee, choosing eight teams from the eligible conferences. The first place school in each league goes to the NCAA tournament.

Larry Albus, athletic director of St. Louis University, host for the CCA tournament, will serve as tournament director.

St. Louis U. was host for the 1973 NCAA finals and has been chosen to be host to the 1978 finals as well. Neinas said the success of the 1973 finals was a major factor in the selection of St. Louis over Vanderbilt in Nashville for the CCA tournament.

Final dates have not yet been worked out. Albus said, but four sessions will be played between March 13 and March 18.

UCLA tops nation in rushing and scoring

NEW YORK (UPI)—UCLA, which has averaged an awesome 51.8 points per game since an opening loss to Nebraska, has taken over the lead in both scoring and rushing offense, according to the latest college football statistics released Tuesday by the National Collegiate Sports Services.

The eighth-ranked Bruins (7-1) replaced second-ranked Alabama (6-0) as the leader in scoring and rushing offense this week. UCLA, which was drubbed by Nebraska 40-13 in its first game, has scored over 60 points in its last two games and is averaging 46.8 points per game for the season. Alabama is averaging 44.4 points per contest.

The Bruins also are averaging 419 yards on the ground, which is nearly 19 yards more than Alabama.

Arizona State (7-1), which suffered its first loss of the season last Saturday, continues to lead in total offense with 529.1 yards per game while Brigham Young, behind the quarterbacking of Gary Shuler, is the leader in passing offense with 278 yards a game.

Memphis, Tenn. (UPI)—Guard George Thompson scored six points in the final three minutes to smother an Indiana Pacer rally and give the Memphis Tams a 102-96 victory in American Basketball Association play Tuesday night.

Thompson finished the contest with 23 points and 11 rebounds. He also had two assists and one steal.

The Pacers, who had defeated the Lakers only twice in 12 outings, kept up the pace in the second period by dropping in 11 of 22 from the field to take a 68-42 halftime lead.

Pitt coach eagerly awaiting Saturday game with Notre Dame

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Pitt coach Johnny Majors, whose 5-2-1 Panthers challenge unbeaten and fifth-ranked Notre Dame Saturday, sounded like one of those movie generals who is anxious to go to war.

Sly Ara Parseghian of Notre Dame wanted to talk about phenomenal Pitt freshman Tony Dorsett, the nation's third leading rusher.

"This is the biggest challenge we've had this year," said Majors at Pitt's weekly football media luncheon Tuesday. "They may kill us, but I'm really looking forward to this game. Of course, I may feel differently about four o'clock Saturday."

"I got up last Sunday morning to watch the Notre Dame reruns on TV and I wasn't particularly pleased with what I saw. I don't think it's going to take a miracle to beat them, but we're going to have to play a very good ball game."

Majors felt Pitt may run its winning streak to five games in a row "if we slow them down." Parseghian left no doubt that the Irish would be keying on Dorsett, whom they tried unsuccessfully to recruit, in their bid to make it 10 in a row over the Panthers.

"Being a freshman, I wonder whether he will get the recognition he deserves," said Parseghian of Dorsett, whose 211 yards last week made him the only 1,000-yard single season runner in Pitt history.

"Just from watching him on film, boy, he's one helluva runner."

"If he had been a sophomore and had the preseason publicity, he'd be a certain All-American. I don't think there's any question that he's an All-American right now."

Playoffs, 2 regular tilts mark end to grid season

Football Valley high school season will be completed by next Monday although most of the area teams will be out of the district for the final eight games. Things start Thursday at the ISU minidome where Murtaugh will meet Grace at 6 p.m. and Declo goes against Westside at 8:45 p.m. In a fourth-fifth district playoff, One lone game is scheduled for Friday when the Burley

Bobcats entertain Madison of Rexburg at 1:30 p.m. The South Central Idaho Conference takes over the minidome Saturday afternoon with Buhl going against Malad at noon and Gooding taking on Marsh Valley at 3 p.m. The last game will get done just in time to let college fans in for the Idaho State-Bellevue State Big Sky battle. Monday has the final three games. Twin Falls will entertain Minico at 1:30 p.m. in a game from the originally announced Friday evening meeting. Wendell leaves the area to meet Homedale in a battle of the Little Elve and SRV-B tilts at 1:30 p.m. The two loop runners-up, Middleton and Valley get together at 1:30 p.m. in Eden.

The fifth district A-4 and Magic Valley Conferences have been doing considerable regular season scheduling the past few years and there's a line on those two Thursday night games. In fact, Grace and Murtaugh already have met, playing to a 12-12 tie two weeks ago and then deciding against the overtime playoff. Which makes this game a playoff playoff. Declo's opponent, Westside, has made two appearances against Magic Valley teams. The Pirates ripped Raft River 48-0 in the second game of the season with Raft River then upsetting Declo 14-12 in the second to last game. In between, Westside slipped past Hansen 18-14 while Declo dropped Hansen 18-6.

Westside has good speed in the backfield and was particularly effective in running back kicks against Hansen. However, none of the three kick returns against the Huskies stood up for points due to penalties.

"We felt we hit a little better than they did, but there's no denying they've got break-away speed at two or three positions," Hansen Coach Gordon Hogan said of that meeting.

Murtaugh is confident it can beat Grace in the rerun of two weeks ago. The Devils just missed a last-second field goal attempt and held a good statistical advantage in the second half of the game. On the basis of common opponents, Burley should have a tough battle with Madison. They are fairly even—within a touchdown or two—down the season with the exception that Burley had to hang on to beat Blackfoot while Madison ripped the Broncos 48-14 last week.

The week's schedule includes: Thursday (at minidome) Murtaugh vs. Grace, 6 p.m. Declo vs. Westside, 8:45 p.m. Friday (at Burley) Madison vs. Burley, 1:30 p.m. Saturday (at minidome) Buhl vs. Malad, noon Gooding vs. Marsh Valley, 3 p.m. Monday Minico at Twin Falls, 1:30 p.m. Wendell at Homedale, 1:30 p.m. Middleton at Valley, 1:30 p.m.

Sanders sees no end to wealth available from pro golf tour

PINEHURST, N.C. (UPI)—Today the world, tomorrow the universe.

Or, before the touring golf pros can take even their first whiff at the $500,000 at stake here in the World Open Golf Championship starting Thursday, they can anticipate an eventual million-dollar purse coming their way.

"I don't think there's a limit at all," silver-haired Doug Sanders said today. "The purses will continue to get bigger and bigger. I don't see any reason why not. It's the one sport most businessmen play and they've become very golf-oriented. They'll continue to spend their money and help advertise golf."

"I think we're on the verge of seeing new things in golf, just as we have here. There will be different formats, more money and maybe even leagues. As long as the sport is run right, and the pros act like gentlemen, there will be bigger and bigger purses. In a couple more years, I wouldn't be surprised to see a million dollar purse."

In the meantime, the 240 entrants in this initial World Open will have to be satisfied with a half-million dollars, with $100,000 going to the winner. Both figures represent high-water marks for golf.

Despite the lure of the green, several of this country's top stars have decided to sit out the action. Jack Nicklaus, Tom Weiskopf and Lee Trevino, who rank 1-3-4 on the current money-winning list, never filed entries while U.S. Open champion Johnny Miller, Dave Hill and Ray Floyd all withdrew Tuesday.

Miller, sixth on the money list, has the flu, and Floyd has tendonitis. There was no money given for the withdrawal of Hill, who is 16th in earnings.

Sanders, who has earned better than $760,000 since joining the tour in 1957, has had some problems with tendonitis in his hands and as a result has played little in this country since June.

"I feel I'm hitting the ball well again," said Dapper Doug, taking time off from giving golf pointers to actor Robert Sterling. "I just hope I don't make foolish mistakes, the kind you don't make when you're playing a lot."

Mistakes, though, may prove a common happenstance even to the most conditioned of golfers. Both the No. 2 and 4 courses at the Pinehurst Country Club are difficult, and then there is the matter of playing the same holes over and over.

"It's going to be a long two weeks and will require a lot of patience," said red-headed Bob Murphy, who ranks 17th on this year's money winning list with $92,292. "We just may be susceptible to falling asleep. We'll be hitting the same drive from the same place seven times in a row, and then if you make one mistake from the same place it could cost you the tournament."

"For this reason a good pick to win this tournament would be Gary Player. He has uncanny ability and fantastic concentration."

The World Open will run for two weeks, with all 240 contestants remaining eligible for the first four rounds from Thursday to Sunday. The field will then be cut to the low 120 and ties for the final four rounds next Wednesday to Saturday, Nov. 14-17. The No. 2 and 4 courses, both playing to par 71, will be employed for the first 72 holes, with the last 72 scheduled for No. 2.

The weather is almost certain to be a factor with the tournament running to mid-November. Even under a bright sun, there is a noticeable chill in the air and at night the temperature dips to near-freezing. In addition, there is the problem of winds.

Leaks assumes lead in college rushing

NEW YORK (UPI)—Roosevelt Leaks of Texas, who narrowly missed an NCAA single game rushing record against Southern Methodist last Saturday, has taken over the national lead in rushing, according to the latest college football statistics released today by the National Collegiate Sports Services.

Leaks, who gained 342 yards in the Longhorns' 42-14 rout of SMU, has replaced Mark Kellar of Northern Illinois as the nation's leading rusher with an average of 163.7 yards per game. Kellar, who has played two more games than Leaks, is averaging 152.6 yards per contest.

Danny White of Arizona State continues to lead in total offense with 258.8 yards per game, but he is being challenged by Brigham Young's Gary Sheide, who gained over 400 yards passing last Saturday and is now averaging 237.5 total yards per game.

Jesse Freitas of San Diego State remains the leader in passing, with 18.6 completions per game. J.J. Jennings of Rutgers is still tops in scoring with 14.9 points a contest and Chuck Ramsey of Wake Forest leads in punting average with 46.5 yards per kick.

Piersall hired to help Texas

ARLINGTON, Tex. (UPI)—Jimmy Piersall figures his notoriety and image as something of an oddball will help him in his new job as promotions director for the Texas Rangers and owner Bob Short is hoping he's right.

When Short moved the Rangers from the nation's capital a couple of years ago he estimated yearly attendance would be around one million. But after two aesthetically dismal seasons, the combined attendance for the Rangers' stay in North Texas is barely over his prediction for one year.

The only sellout in the club's history was "David Clyde Night" and that wasn't a planned promotion stunt. There were no prizes or gimmicks, just a chance to see the debut of baseball's No. 1 draft choice. There's an old adage that nothing draws fans to the ballpark more than a winning ballclub. In an attempt to "provide the folks in North Texas with a winning franchise, Short hired Billy Martin as his new manager about three months ago. But Short also started 1973 with a new manager and the team did not improve one whit in the standings.

So Tuesday Short announced he has hired Piersall as the team's new promotions director. Piersall, a 17-year-veteran in the major leagues, told his story about bouts with mental health in the book "Fear Strikes Out," which was turned into a successful motion picture with Tony Perkins playing Piersall.

Hanratty promises he'll play

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Pittsburgh Steelers quarterback Terry Hanratty said today his bruised ribs were "just as sore as the day after the Cincinnati game, but I will definitely be ready to play against the Oakland Raiders Sunday."

There was some concern that Hanratty, the former Notre Dame star, might be sidelined Sunday. He reinjured the ribs in the Pittsburgh's 21-16 victory over Washington Monday night.

If Hanratty is not able to go against the Raiders, Joe Gilliam will get the call. Hanratty was given the starting assignment, when Terry Bradshaw suffered a shoulder separation.

Gilliam, sophomore pro from Tennessee State, made his first appearance of the season Monday night as Hanratty's sub and threw a 46-yard touchdown pass to Barry Pearson.

He will sing eight contemporary songs and recite "Casey at the Bat" with the full 85-piece orchestra in regularly scheduled concerts here Friday and Saturday nights. cause if West led any other suit he would be sure of making a diamond trick later. South should win the diamond with the 10 spot. There is no point in a false-card play here.

If it is up to South to lead one of his high trumps. Which one? Not the king surely. If he ace he will take his ace, lead a second diamond and give his partner a ruff to defeat the contract. How about the 10-spot? Equally undesirable. If West has the ace he is very likely to figure out just what South is up to.

South's best hope is to lead the queen. West may decide that South's trump suit is headed by queen-jack-10. In that case it is up to West to duck. Of course, even this play isn't too likely to work but it does give South his best chance.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

There is nothing wrong with the North-South bidding. North certainly has a sound raise to two spades and no one can blame South for jumping right to game.

The fact that South has no real play for his contract, has nothing to do with the correctness of the bidding. If you never go down at a game contract you won't incur many penalties but you will lose a lot of games and rubbers more enterprising bidders would win.

There is nothing wrong with West's lead either. No suit has been bid but spades and it is less likely that a lead from a queen turns out to be a disaster. This time it does be-

CARD SENSE

The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
Pass	1♠	Pass	2♠
Pass	3♠	Pass	4♠

You, South, hold:

♠ A 2 9 5 ♦ A Q J 8 7 ♣ A K J 6 5

What do you do now?

A — Bid four spades. Your partner has rebid the suit so your trump support is adequate. If he has a good hand he will continue.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Your partner does continue to five diamonds. What do you do now?

Candy sale starts Nov. 9

Valley Briefs

HANSEN — Royal Neighbors of Hansen will have a cooked food sale and card party at the Woodman Hall Friday at 1 p.m.

TWIN FALLS — The Disabled American Veterans Post, Stradley Chapter No. 5, will hold a Thanksgiving supper at 6:30 p.m. Nov. 14 at the DAV Hall, corner of Shoup and Harrison. Members and their families are invited and asked to bring a covered dish and table service. National service officers and department officers will attend and the Oldtime Fiddlers will provide entertainment, according to Cmdr. Earl B. Newham.

JEROME — The Magic Valley chapter of the Idaho State Employees Association

Annual candy sale set

TWIN FALLS — The Southwestern Idaho Council of Camp Fire Girls will hold its annual candy sale from Nov. 9 through Dec. 2.

Area chairmen include Mrs. Sally Turner and Mrs. Mary Norris. Twin Falls: Mrs. Sylvia Moyers; Mountain Home: Mrs. Rose; Burley: Mrs. Gladys Wright; Burley: Dale Christensen, Buhl; and Mrs. Rosalee Rose, Gooding.

The candy sale supports the local council operation, including Camp Tawakani, as well as giving girls the opportunity to learn business procedures and earn money for group activities.

The girls will sell assorted chocolates, pecan prides, mint sticks and assorted nuts. The candy will sell for $1.00 a box.

COSMETICS TAKE A PLUNGE

By Mary Sue Miller

A Lovely writes: My chest is peppered with large, dark freckles. I feel self-conscious when I wear low necklines, and I do so want a strapless evening dress this winter. Is there a smudge-proof cosmetic that would cover the problem? Anything I've tried rubs off.

The Answer: Freckles and brown spots can be toned down, and sometimes completely hidden, with specially formulated foundations. Sponges, creams and cakes, extra-cover liquids and cream with powder combos do a satisfactory job when properly applied.

JANE ARMSTRONG, Consulting Home Economist
for Buttreys Food Stores

GETTING MORE VALUE FOR YOUR MEAT DOLLAR

Trying to get the most for your meat dollar is something we're all concerned about these days. So, the more you know about meat, how to shop for it, and how to prepare and serve it, the better.

Meat Identity Labeling, aids you in menu variety, better economy and consistently satisfactory cooking results. This is the use of standardized names for all Buttreys meat cuts, based on the part of animal from which it originates. You'll find four charts in your Buttreys Food Store illustrating beef, lamb, pork and veal cuts. By relating the meat labels to these charts, you'll know how to interchange types of meat with like cuts. And, because you know what each cut actually is, you can apply the correct cooking method to achieve tender results.

In addition to meat labeling, there are three other things you should consider in determining wise meat purchases:

1. the grade of meat
2. the cutting and trimming of meat
3. the number of servings per pound

The federal grade is not only a measure of quality, but also is your assurance that the meat packing or processing plant has met strict requirements for cleanliness. All Buttreys beef is U.S.D.A. Choice. You'll see the grade stamped on each package label containing beef.

Secondly, the way meat is cut and trimmed is important to you. Bone and most fat is waste; however, a certain amount of fat, both in marbling (fat interspersed with lean) and the outer covering is necessary for tenderness, juiciness, flavor, and protection of the cut during cooking. Your butcher's objective is to remove all excess fat and bone.

And here's a final suggestion. As you shop for meat, think in terms of cost per serving (3.4 oz. lean) rather than cost per pound. Simply divide the price per pound by the number of portions to get your true meat cost.

The more you know about your meat purchases, the more value you'll get for your meat dollar!
